

Severe Penalties For Bootleggers Passed By Senate

Reed's Fight Goes for Naught as Term of Five Years for First Offenders Wins.

MEASURE WINS BY
VOTE OF 65 TO 18

Jones Bill, Drawn to Get
"Big Fellows" Leaves
Wide Latitude for Federal Judges.

Washington, February 19.—(AP)—First offenders along with hardened violators of the prohibition law would be liable to a maximum penalty of a fine of $10,000 or five years in prison or both under a bill passed by the senate today and sent to the house.

By a vote of 65 to 18 the senate approved the measure introduced by Senator Jones, republican, Washington, after several days of debate celebrated by a clash of views between Borah, of Idaho, and Reed, of Missouri, on the dry question.

"The proposal to increase the maximum penalty in such a way as to make them applicable to first offenders was attacked by many senators as too drastic but the majority of the senate decided such a step necessary to help enforce the prohibition law more effectively.

In raising the penalty so as to include first offenders, the senate softened the blow by approving a provision in the bill which declares it to be the sense of the senate that judges, when imposing sentences "should discriminate between casual or slight violations and habitual sales of intoxicating liquor or attempts to commercialize violations of the prohibition law."

Before the bill passed Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, proposed to exempt first offenders from the imposition of the maximum penalties but the senate voted him down, 51 to 31.

Parties Split.
On the final ballot 26 republicans joined with 20 democrats in support of the measure, while five republicans and 13 democrats were registered against it. Among those voting for the bill was Senator Borah, who in a speech yesterday demanded stricter law enforcement. Senator Reed, of Missouri, who had directed a scathing attack upon prohibition, voted against the measure.

The bill did not affect minimum penalties already incorporated in the Volstead act. Under the present law the maximum penalty is a fine of $10,000 or six months' imprisonment, or both for first offenses, and $20,000 fine with five years' imprisonment for subsequent offenses. The minimum sentence a judge may at present impose is none at all for first offenders and a fine of $200, with imprisonment of one month for second or subsequent offenses.

Practically all of the debate was concerned with the discrimination between minor offense, such as carrying a pint of liquor to a friend, and the serious, of the big bootleggers. Supporters of the measure contended that

COOLIDGE STILL UNDECIDED ABOUT BECOMING AUTHOR

Washington, February 19.—(United News).—Although it is considered certain that President Coolidge, after leaving the white house, will write for newspapers or magazines, or both, articles based on his long public career, it was stated authoritatively today that no decision regarding the matter had been reached.

A number of proposals have been made to the president by publishers and syndicates and it is known the idea has appealed strongly to him. It was reported in New York yesterday that the Cosmopolitan magazine has an understanding that the president will write for that publication after his retirement.

Columbus, Ohio, February 19.—(AP) Pat McDermott and Mike Jacko, life term slayers who escaped from Ohio penitentiary here early today with three other convicts, were captured by suburban police in a stone quarry near upper Arlington, a Columbus suburb tonight. They were identified by penitentiary officials.

The men had not progressed more than five miles from the penitentiary in their approximately 18 hours of freedom. They were returned to the penitentiary at once.

Columbus, Ohio, February 19.—(AP) Five convicts, among them Pat McDermott, slayer of Don R. Mellett, Canton editor, and two other life term murderers, made a clean break from Ohio penitentiary early today by sawing through cell bars and scaling one of the prison buildings with an improvised ladder made from mattresses.

Their dash for freedom was not discovered until several hours after they fled and they left scarcely a trace behind.

Search was being made for them throughout Ohio and surrounding

SCHOOL FINANCES TO COME UP TODAY

Special Committee, Headed by Alderman Murphy, Will Seek Solution of Perplexing Problem.

One of the most difficult and responsible tasks faced by any body in the local municipal government will be before a special committee at 3 o'clock this afternoon, when Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, of the eleventh ward, chairman, convenes a special committee charged with the duty of "finding a solution of the school financing problem in Atlanta."

The session will be held in Mayor J. N. Ragdale's suite at the city hall, and although various members of the committee have given the matter much private and individual study an open discussion of the various opinions will be voiced by many of them for the first time at the meeting.

On the solution of the problem hangs the fate of many future public improvements in Atlanta and widespread interest has been manifested in the possible findings.

Members of the legislature from Fulton and DeKalb counties have been

4-YEAR-OLD GIRL HELD BY KIDNAPER IN SAN FRANCISCO

Abductor Writes Many
Letters to Foster Father
But Seeks No Ransom for Release.

San Francisco, February 19.—(AP) Baffled by conflicting clues in his efforts to solve the disappearance of four-year-old Doris Smith-Murphy, police of the San Francisco bay region concentrated tonight on a search for the writer of mysterious letters purporting to be from the child's kidnaper.

Another of the letters, which Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Murphy, the child's foster father and her mother, have received at intervals by mail since Doris disappeared from a playground last Friday, was delivered during the day.

The envelope bore the words, "This is the last time I will tell you she is all right," with the initials, "K. K."

In previous notes, signed "K. K." the purported kidnaper declared the child would come to no harm and one promise was made that she would be returned safely March 5.

Duncan Matheson, captain of detectives, said the contents of today's letter could not be divulged because the writer threatened "serious harm" to the little girl if the letter were made public.

A note received yesterday from the mysterious "K. K." said, "I only wanted her with me for a while because she resembled my dead wife so much."

Captain Matheson expressed the belief that the child probably would be held captive in San Francisco. Every available office in northern California has been enlisted in the search for the child. Rewards offered for her return today totaled $5,500.

BRANDON OFFERS ALIBI IN MURDER

Accused Ax Slayer of Ira
Byrd Says He Was at Woodcliff Day of Slay-ing.

Blackshear, Ga., February 19.—(AP) Moving rapidly, the state, except for rebuttal testimony, completed its case against F. P. Brandon, charged with the murder of Ira Byrd, a farmer, and the accused murderer, three witnesses to establish an alibi for the defendant before court recessed for the day.

The defense witnesses, L. O. Gray, grocery clerk; W. A. Zeigler, mill owner; and H. D. Hunt, a merchant, all testified that Brandon was at Woodcliff, a place about 150 miles from the scene of the crime, the day and night Byrd was slain.

The state offered four witnesses before it rested with the announcement that rebuttal testimony would be offered.

The trial moved smoothly forward today, a jury being obtained before noon and the state plunged into its case, calling Odell Wiley, negro hand on the Byrd place, as its first witness.

The negro testified that on the night of August 25, 1928, Brandon, a white man, came to the Byrd place, together with Mrs. Agnes Byrd, the widow, and Dan Tyre, were jointly indicted for murder in connection with the death of the woman's husband.

Wiley testified that he accompanied the trio to the Byrd home, where under threat of death he was forced to hitch up a wagon. While he was thus employed, the negro said, Brandon went to the Byrd woodpile where he heard the wagon returning and went to the front of the Byrd home, where the farmer slept on the front porch.

A few moments after Brandon left, Wiley said, he heard a blow struck and a groan and a few minutes later he was made to assist in carrying a sheet-swathed bundle, which he believed to be Byrd's body to the wagon. With the bundle, loaded, Wiley said Brandon, Tyre and Dixon drove away.

About two hours later he testified he heard the wagon returning and went to the road, where the wagon was stopped and he was called over and given $10.

Under questioning by Solicitor A. B. Spence Wiley said that Mrs. Byrd had offered from $10 to two occasions to kill her husband, but that he had refused.

Under cross-examination, Wiley admitted visiting friends early the night of the slaying, and in reply to whether he was sure some of those boys had not killed the farmer, said he was certain they did not.

Measurements of the tracks of a wagon leading into the swamps to where Byrd's body was found correspond to those of the Byrd wagon in which the state contends that the

Books Vanish When Audit Is Ordered

Finance Records of Murray
County Disappear Following Grand Jury Probe.

Dalton, Ga., February 19.—(Special.)—Information is received here that the books of accounts and expenditures of the county board of roads and revenue are missing from the office of R. N. Steed, county attorney, clerk of the board and custodian of the records at Chatsworth.

The books were recently examined and inspected by the grand jury at Chatsworth and an audit was to be made when the absence of the books was discovered.

It is stated that the missing books had been placed by the clerk in a safe in his office and probably were taken from the safe during his absence. The books contain the financial record of the affairs of Murray county, which are further evidenced by vouchers and receipts which were not taken with the books.

Efforts are being made to locate the records.

ATHENS WELCOMES GA. PRESS GROUP

Noted Journalists of Nation
To Attend Second Annual Institute; Opening Program Tonight.

Athens, Ga., February 19.—(Special.)—The Georgia Press institute, designed to assemble Georgia journalists for class instruction, round-table conferences, and addresses by educators and newspapermen, will open its sessions at the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism, University of Georgia, Wednesday evening, February 20, and will continue through the following Saturday.

More than a dozen prominent journalists and educators have accepted places on the program. Among them are Mark Sullivan, political correspondent, author, and former magazine editor; Dr. John H. Finley, editor of the New York Sun; Professor J. H. Brainerd, a college president of distinction; Lawrence Perry, nationally known sporting writer; Dr. H. W. Chase, president of the University of North Carolina; and the three southern winners of the Pulitzer journalism prizes, including Robert Latham, editor of the Asheville (N. C.) Citizen; Julian Harris, editor of the Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer; and Grover C. Hall, editor of the Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser.

Dr. Willard Grosvenor Bleyer, director of the School of Journalism at the University of Wisconsin, will give three lectures on newspaper technique. Assisting him in the classroom instruction, which will deal with news writing, newspaper makeup, editorial writing, publicity, and the history of journalism, will be the teachers of journalism of the state, who are: Dr. S. V. Sanford, President John E. Drewry, and Mrs. M. H. Bryan, University of Georgia; Miss Virginia Garner, Wesleyan college; Professor John Allen and Mrs. Willie Susan Ehrhardt, Morehead university; Dr. R. L. Brantley, Bessie Tift college; Professor R. B. Nixon, Emory university, and Professor George M. Sparks, Georgia Tech.

Mr. Sullivan is being brought to the Athens campus as the guest of The Atlanta Constitution. Mr. Perry comes through the courtesy of The Athens Herald-Herald, and The Macon Telegraph is acting as host to the three southern winners of the Pulitzer prize. The Atlanta Journal and other papers are cooperating in making possible the press institute, which is sponsored by the Georgia Press association.

The institute will open Wednesday evening with a reception at War Memorial hall, at which officials of the university and of the institute will speak. Among those on the program are Chancellor Charles M. Snellings, Miss Emily Woodward, president of the Georgia Press association; Mark F. Ehrhardt, managing editor of The Macon Telegraph and chairman of the press institute committee; President Andrew M. Soule, of the State College of Agriculture, and Dean S. V. Sanford, of the university.

Class instruction will begin the following morning. Dr. Bleyer, Dean

STAMPEDE CAUSES SCORES OF INJURIES

200 Overcome by Fumes
When Short Circuit
Starts Fire in Storage
Batteries.

New York, February 19.—(AP)—Fifty persons were injured, four men and two women seriously, and 200 passengers were affected by smoke and fumes tonight when fire broke out in the first car of a New Jersey-bound seven-car Hudson tube train, 1,000 feet west of the Christopher street station, in Manhattan.

The fire was discovered and train halted about 1,000 feet from the Christopher street station. Police reserves and fire apparatus were called and the injured removed from the smoke-filled train.

Passengers in Panic.

Police said there were approximately 1,000 persons on the train. Panic-stricken passengers trampled one another in attempting to get off the stalled and smoke-filled train. Most of them reached Christopher street station through another train that was joined to the rear of the stalled train.

The train that caught fire was a local bound for Journal square, Jersey City, N. J., and carried about 1,000 passengers. A short circuit in the motor of the first car caused the fire and smoke from burning acid fumes from the storage batteries of the train. The lights went out when the short circuit occurred and illumination was furnished by two small emergency bulbs at each end of the cars.

Bruised and Bleeding.
When the passengers reached the street their faces were blackened from the smoke and many were bruised and bleeding from being trampled and struck. Passengers said the air was stifling in the first three cars and that many received cuts in breaking windows to permit the smoke and gases to escape.

Emergency stations were set up by police in stores and the seriously injured were treated there.

A large crowd was attracted and police established lines.

Power was turned off in the tubes when word of the fire was received and several other trains were stalled.

Harry Van Zandt, of Jersey City, N. J., motorman of the train which caught fire, was taken to St. Vincent's hospital in what police described as a serious condition. He was not questioned as to the cause of the blaze, they said, because of his condition.

John Avalon, of Bloomfield, N. J., and Laura Sinclair, of Newark, N. J., also were taken to St. Vincent's hospital, where their condition was described as serious.

COOLIDGE COMMENDS ORATORICAL CONTEST

"Greatest Competition of Kind in World," Says President, Indorsing Plans.

Washington, February 19.—(Special.)—The international high school oratorical contests are the greatest thing of their kind in the world, President Coolidge said today in commenting on the forthcoming series of elimination tests for orators dealing with the federal constitution.

The president commended the group of newspapers, of which The Constitution is the southeastern representative, which annually sponsors these contests and lauded them for the patriotic purpose which inspired the idea.

The preliminary contests in individual schools are to be held on March 8, after which district, state and zone contests will decide the seven American winners who will take part in a free tour of South America offered as grand prizes this year. Later the United States champion will meet champions of 23 other countries in Washington, to decide the world championship for 1929.

"The national and international oratorical contests are held not so much for promoting the arts of oratory as for interesting young people in a study of the science of government," said the president. "This patriotic purpose was originated and promoted by a group of newspapers in America."

Because of my belief in the profound benefit of this movement I have taken this opportunity again to give my most sincere commendations. It is the greatest competition of its kind ever held in the world."

He admitted, however, under cross-examination, that there were many such wagons in use.

The search for the body of the farmer was described by Jack Johnson, a negro, who at times was employed on the Byrd farm.

Johnson said that when Mrs. Byrd reported her husband missing, a searching party of which he was a member after a fruitless half day returned to the Byrd home for dinner.

Mrs. Byrd insisted that the party return to the hunt, and Dan Tyre then said, "Boys, let's find that body. I had a dream last night about where to find it and I know I won't be wrong."

The negro said that following Tyre's direction, the party went almost directly to the bushes in the swamp where Byrd's body was found.

A rustle in court came during the testimony of Mrs. Bessie Hodges, a neighbor of the Byrds, who said she overheard a conversation between Mrs. Byrd and Brandon in which the widow had offered the defendant $400 to "get rid" of her husband.

Hodges said that she did not hear all of the conversation because Mrs. Byrd's mother came into the room where the two were talking.

The state then rested, and the defense called its three witnesses to directly to the bushes in the swamp where Byrd's body was found.

state outlined its case and began offering testimony rapidly.

More than a day was consumed in selecting the jury and 108 veniremen were examined.

Jurors selected were D. L. Raulston, farmer; W. R. Pilkinton, naval stores manager; E. L. Minchew, clerk; G. L. Carson, G. W. Bennett, W. H. Clough, D. S. Lewis, Lem Knowlton, R. E. Stokes, J. H. Thompson and C. J. Mullins, all farmers.

Besides Brandon, none of the defendants, Mrs. Agnes Byrd, widow of the slain man; Lawton Dixon, Levy Smith and Dan Tyre, were in the court room this morning. Brandon sat with his attorneys, advising them in the selection of jurors.

He smiled often and waved to acquaintances several times. Brandon, a farm hand, was particularly incriminated by the signed statement of Odell Wiley, negro state's witness.

The state will try to prove Brandon wielded the ax with which it contends Byrd was killed as he lay asleep on the front porch of his home.

Sleet and snow freezing on the wings of the northbound mail plane from Atlanta to Chicago Tuesday forced it down three times by the accumulated weight, according to Associated Press dispatches. The plane on the third landing at Henderson, Ky., damaged the undercarriage and one of the landing wheels. Mail was transferred to trains.

Earlier in the day the plane, piloted by E. B. Frick, had been forced down by sleet 50 miles from Nashville, Tenn., and again at Greenville, Tenn.

ZACHARA, PIANO ARTIST, PLAYS AT BRENAU TONIGHT

Brenau College Conservatory, Gainesville, Ga., February 19.—(Special.)—Having already demonstrated his genius as a pianist such effect that Ralph T. Jones hailed him in the Atlanta Constitution as a "second Paderewski," Francis Zachara will display his powers when he plays three of his own pieces in the college auditorium here Wednesday night.

Mr. Zachara is a member of the Brenau conservatory faculty and already given five of a series of nine monthly public recitals.

Besides Zachara's own compositions of "Piano Valse Chromatique" F minor, "Piano Opus 12" and "Humoresque" the program will include selections from Mozart, Beethoven, Chopin and Liszt.

A graduate of the Imperial Conservatory of Moscow and Saratov, Mr. Zachara, although only 30 years old, has established a reputation as one of the foremost of European pianists.

After coming to this country last August and giving a recital in New York which drew high praise from the critics, he came to Brenau conservatory as professor of piano.

the Bank of Commerce, at Summerville, who is serving a three-year sentence in Muscogee county under the fraudulent bank insolvency statute, made application for parole prior to Monday's decision and this application is on file with the prison commission. It was learned Tuesday.

Bitting will receive a release from serving the remainder of his sentence, following the high court's ruling on the statute Monday. It is believed in state court circles. Just what form this release would take was not known Tuesday.

Warden Dunaway of the state prison farm at Milledgeville, Tuesday afternoon said that the order for the release of Bitting would have to come from the governor.

ATLANTA-CHICAGO PLANE IS FORCED DOWN 3 TIMES

Sleet and snow freezing on the wings of the northbound mail plane from Atlanta to Chicago Tuesday forced it down three times by the accumulated weight, according to Associated Press dispatches. The plane on the third landing at Henderson, Ky., damaged the undercarriage and one of the landing wheels. Mail was transferred to trains.

Earlier in the day the plane, piloted by E. B. Frick, had been forced down by sleet 50 miles from Nashville, Tenn., and again at Greenville, Tenn.

ZACHARA, PIANO ARTIST, PLAYS AT BRENAU TONIGHT

Brenau College Conservatory, Gainesville, Ga., February 19.—(Special.)—Having already demonstrated his genius as a pianist such effect that Ralph T. Jones hailed him in the Atlanta Constitution as a "second Paderewski," Francis Zachara will display his powers when he plays three of his own pieces in the college auditorium here Wednesday night.

Mr. Zachara is a member of the Brenau conservatory faculty and already given five of a series of nine monthly public recitals.

Besides Zachara's own compositions of "Piano Valse Chromatique" F minor, "Piano Opus 12" and "Humoresque" the program will include selections from Mozart, Beethoven, Chopin and Liszt.

A graduate of the Imperial Conservatory of Moscow and Saratov, Mr. Zachara, although only 30 years old, has established a reputation as one of the foremost of European pianists.

After coming to this country last August and giving a recital in New York which drew high praise from the critics, he came to Brenau conservatory as professor of piano.

EMORY UNIVERSITY DEBATEERS DEFEAT 2 COLLEGE TEAMS

K. C. HEAD IS GUEST OF ATLANTA COUNCIL

Martin Carmody Will Make Address at Dinner Tonight.

Martin H. Carmody, supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus, will arrive in Atlanta today to be the guest of the local council of the order. Items on the program include an automobile trip over the city and a dinner tonight at the Biltmore hotel. Following the dinner, Mr. Carmody will address the local members of the order. Items on the program include an automobile trip over the city and a dinner tonight at the Biltmore hotel. Following the dinner, Mr. Carmody will address the local members of the order.

Mr. Carmody will come here from Savannah, where he was the guest Tuesday. He has been a member of the Knights of Columbus for 27 years, and for 18 years, has been an official of the national order. His home is in Grand Rapids, Mich., where he is a leading lawyer.

He was active in the work of the K. C. during the war and was made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor of France, the decoration personally conferred by Marshal Foch. He is a commander of the order of the Star of Morocco and is a holder of the papal decoration of Knights of St. Gregory.

POINCARÉ'S CABINET HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Paris, February 19.—(AP)—Premier Raymond Poincaré by the small margin of six votes today saved his government from a sudden onslaught by the radicals who had quit him last November. The attack in the chamber of deputies came when the relatively inoffensive and harmless judiciary reform bill was called for discussion.

The place as leader of the Poincaré cohorts was taken by Minister of Justice Barthou. Premier Poincaré being ill with grippe. The question was made a vote of confidence and the Poincaré followers registered 291 to the opposition's 285.

Some observers saw in the slight majority indication that many deputies usually faithful to the government had an eye today upon the coming municipal elections and for that reason hesitated to reject the radical-socialist project for reestablishment of the many small tribunals suppressed in 1926. The cabinet, headed by Poincaré, resigned early in November last year when the radicals withdrew from the coalition. After some suspense Poincaré was prevailed upon to form a new cabinet with which he has since successfully weathered several tests raised by the radicals in the chamber. The majority today was the narrowest yet accorded the new cabinet.

ALLEGED SLAYER OF WIFE BETTER; IS ABLE TO WALK

Out of bed for the first time since he was brought to Grady hospital with three bullet wounds in his abdomen, Ernest Eich, 19 years old, under indictment by the Fulton county grand jury for the murder of his wife, Tuesday walked about for several minutes in the hospital ward.

Eich suffered a relapse last week because of an intestinal obstruction, but has improved rapidly since that time. He told police his wife shot him and then committed suicide, but he was indicted by a Fulton county grand jury after a physician testified the 17-year-old wife had been shot in the back and in such a position that she could not possibly have shot herself.

DeKalb Schools Crowded; Funds Needed, Rainey Says

DeKalb, Ga., February 19.—(Special.)—DeKalb county schools are now crowded to capacity and if the present rate of increased enrollment continues, more school buildings will have to be constructed within the next few years, it was indicated in the monthly statement made by W. M. Rainey, superintendent of DeKalb county schools.

Mr. Rainey in giving his monthly report on school conditions shows that a greater portion of the 1928-29 school funds, $146,051, was spent for teachers' salaries, about one-tenth for transportation, and the remainder for general control, insurance, interest and coal. The report shows $141,795 was spent, an increase of $9,

GROWERS DISCUSS GEORGIA EXPORTING

Department of Commerce
Expert Will Be Here To Give Advice Thursday.

A discussion of the possibility of exporting Georgia farm products will be the feature of the conference to be held at the chamber of commerce building at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, at which time Dr. E. G. Montgomery, chief of the foodstuffs division of the department of commerce, will be present to offer practical advice along this line and to confer with anyone interested in foreign trade for "raised in Georgia" agricultural products. The meeting is being sponsored by the Atlanta office of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce and approximately 100 invitations have been sent out all over the state to fruit and vegetable growers, railroads, steamship lines, warehouses, refrigerating companies and chambers of commerce.

It was explained that a bill has recently been enacted by congress creating a new office to be filled by a man whose duty it will be to study the foreign possibilities of the Florida citrus market, and an effort is now being made to determine whether or not there is sufficient interest in Georgia in this question to have included in the investigation foreign market possibilities for Georgia melons, apples, peaches and other products. Trial shipments of Florida citrus fruits have been made for the last two years, special refrigerating apparatus having been provided, and the results obtained have been very encouraging, it is said.

H. O. Mitchell, manager of the Atlanta bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, stated Tuesday that in his opinion the possibilities of export trade in Georgia were practically limitless. He pointed out that California, in the face of seemingly impossible obstacles, has built up an extensive foreign market which is supplied by shipping goods all the way across the continent to New York and from there to Europe.

NEW VIADUCT INDORSED BY MOORE AND OZBURN

Councilmen Wiley L. Moore and James T. Ozburn, of the seventh ward, Tuesday joined Alderman W. Guy Dobbs, also of the seventh, in urging erection of the proposed Alabama street viaduct, extending from Forsyth street to Haynes.

This project is one of the major ones contemplated from the proposed bond issue to be offered voters of Atlanta for ratification early this spring and has the active support of practically every member of general council, Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, Chief of Construction Clarke Donaldson and leading business men and civic organizations.

Mr. Dobbs is chairman of the bridge committee of city council and as such has been actively in charge of administration affairs in construction of the Prior street and Central avenue viaducts. He has urged the proposed new structure as a complement to the system of bridges already erected because of the added facility with which traffic will move through its service.

Needs New Bridge. "Atlanta needs the new bridge," Mr. Moore declared. "It is a city-wide improvement of such importance that it should command the united support and active interest of every citizen. It is not a ward or a sectional project, but will serve all Atlanta, providing a new traffic artery from the very heart of the city to its southwestern section and furnishing a means of ingress and egress to an area long neglected when city administration heads planned improvements."

"There was a time when one section of the city could be neglected without a deterring reflection on others. That time has passed. One neglected or depressed area in a city of Atlanta's size, importance and progressiveness will cast a shadow of depression on every other. We must do something to relieve the serious traffic impediment in what has been termed 'Atlanta's no man's land.'"

"It is needless for me to add a single word in support of the proposed structure," Councilman Ozburn said. "Many of the city's largest interests already have voiced unqualified and unstinted advocacy, but I feel I would be derelict in my duty as a city official if I failed to rally to support such a city-wide project."

Opportunity Moment. "If there ever was an opportunity time for Atlanta to step to the fore and establish herself as the progressive and prosperous center of the entire south, I believe this is it. We have finished or are just completing administration of a $8,000,000 bond issue for public improvements. That money was well spent. It stimulated trade channels and provided work for hundreds of persons who otherwise very probably would have been without means of a livelihood. It provided schools for our children; viaducts for our traffic; a city hall for administration of the city's business in keeping with Atlanta's prestige as the south's Gate City; it constructed sewers; assisted in providing adequate waterworks facilities and other things."

"We now need other improvements which I believe can be secured only through an adequate bond issue, and chief among them is the proposed Alabama street viaduct."

CLINTON S. CARNES IS FARM LABORER AT STATE PRISON

Clinton S. Carnes has been assigned to manual labor in the fields at the state prison farm, where he is serving a five-to-seven-year sentence for embezzlement, the state prison commission was advised Tuesday.

E. L. Rainey, chairman of the commission, said a prison farm physician reported that Carnes is a man of frail constitution made more so by several months' confinement in jail. His condition, the physician said, would not stand work on the county roads but he now is performing manual labor in the fields.

The report was signed by J. W. Mobley, Jr., assistant state farm physician.

SUICIDE IS HELD POSSIBLE VICTIM OF KLEPTOMANIA

A possible victim of kleptomania, and suffering from a mental derangement, Mrs. Jessie Pope Langford, 76 Linden avenue, 36-year-old mother of five children, died by her own hand Monday at her home as detectives waited to take her to police headquarters for the fifth time on shoplifting charges, a coroner's jury said Tuesday.

Mrs. Langford slashed her throat with a razor in the bathroom of her home while the detectives waited in the parlor for her to "cook something for the children," the excuse she gave in a downtown department store in asking to be allowed to go to her home.

Sterling Gresham, city detective, testified Tuesday that Mrs. Langford, unknown to her husband, had been arrested five times since 1924 on shoplifting charges. Each time previously she had been able to make bond and was not forced to spend a night at the police station, but Monday Gresham and V. D. Young, Jr., told her Langford would have to be in formed of her actions, they said, when she was arrested in a store with five pairs of stockings in her pockets.

She said her five children were hungry, and asked to be allowed to go home and prepare food for them before going to headquarters. They agreed. She went into the bathroom, closed the door and 15 minutes later was found lying on the floor with the jugular vein severed.

The body of Mrs. Langford was taken after the inquest to Penfield, Ga., where the funeral will be today.

Lecture by McHan. B. C. McHan, platform lecturer of California, will preach on "Humanity" in the city auditorium at 8:30 o'clock tonight. The meeting is open to the public.

Division of Opinion Upholds Verdicts In Three Cases

Verdicts of trial courts in three cases brought to the supreme court it was announced.

were upheld by the higher tribunal Tuesday by operation of law when the justices of the court divided, three to three, as to what decision to render. In the event the vote is a tie, the law automatically upholds the verdict of the lower court. This was the largest number of cases in which there was a division of sentiment among the judges that has developed in the court in several years, it was announced.

Will this
survive?

Will the enormous industry of American steam railroads, the most efficient transportation system in the history of the world, survive the continuing effects of unfair competition, rate reductions, and other influences which are constantly undermining their earning capacity and tending seriously to impair their public service?

This is the great problem which concerns not only the managements of the railroads, but, because of their tremendous value in our economic progress, vitally interests every man, woman, and child in this country.

The inroads on railroad revenues being made by competing forms of transportation, which are not subjected to the same character of regulation as the railroads and are not required to share proportionately in the public burden; the constant rise in the level of wages and in other operating costs; the increasing assessments for railroad taxes, which in 1928 were higher relatively than in any previous period; the gradual tendency downward of rates which, measured by the ton-mile revenue, have declined over 15 per cent since 1921—through the constant whittling away of the rate structure—these are some of the prominent causes which are decreasing the income of the railroads and preventing them from earning the fair return to which they are legally entitled under the Transportation Act.

Unless, through the force of sound public sentiment, a halt is made in encroachments of these kinds, it is feared that before long the American railroads will face one of the greatest crises in their history. You should interest yourself in these matters and use your influence to establish a public policy more just to the railroads.

To keep up the high standard of service and make provision for the future, there must be an adequate margin between railroad revenues and railroad expenses. This can be secured only as the public makes its influence felt so as to insure to the railroad equitable taxation, fair rates and regulations, and just laws.

Topography Maps, Stream Gauging Seen As State Need

GEORGIA IS FAR BEHIND NEIGHBOR STATES

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

Georgia is backward in the work of providing a topographical map of the state and also behind the times in the work of gauging streams and for this backwardness the state is losing a chance to benefit from federal funds appropriated to aid the states in work of this character, according to Dr. S. W. McCallie, who has returned from Washington, D. C., where he attended the annual meeting of the American Association of State Geologists.

"We had a wonderful meeting in Washington but I was disappointed in that I could not report that Georgia is taking advantage of the federal funds provided for mapping and stream gauging," he said. "The federal government will match money appropriated by states for topographical mapping and will provide one-half of the sum appropriated for stream gauging. If Georgia were to appropriate $10,000 a year for mapping the government would provide $5,000. If an appropriation of $5,000 a year were made for stream gauging the government would furnish $2,500."

Other States Provide.
Dr. McCallie said Alabama now appropriates $10,000 a year for mapping, Tennessee $17,000 a year and Kentucky $75,000 a year. The mapping must be done sometime and it is well for the work to start now while federal appropriations are available, according to Dr. McCallie. Stream gauging is important in the development of water power, in ascertaining definitely how much water is available in streams for industrial purposes.

Delegates to the convention were warm in their praise of the special report on Georgia marble deposits recently prepared under the direction of Dr. McCallie by Dr. W. S. Bailey, head of the Illinois geological department.

On Barnstorming Tour.

Horace Bridges and "Uncle Henry" Brahm, of the state department of game and fish, are making a barnstorming tour of south Georgia, playing one night stands with a special motion picture presented under the auspices of the Isaac Walton League of Georgia. The picture shows the former state of wild life in Georgia, shows the enemies of wild life at work and outlines plans for protecting wild life and restoring it to its former condition.

Members of the new state senate are interested in the race for the presidency of that body which is now in progress. The president is elected by the senators and several prominent leaders are making inquiries among friends relative to their chances of winning this post of honor. The president of the senate is virtually the lieutenant governor of the state and would succeed the governor in the event the official dies or is otherwise incapacitated.

W. Cecil Neill, of Muscogee county, is conducting an active campaign for this office and is said to have strong support. Others mentioned for the presidency are Shelby Myrick, of Chatham; Broadus Zellers, of Hart county; H. F. Lawson, of Pulaski county; E. H. Hightower, of Washington county, and Judge J. R. Terrell, of Meriwether county.

Williams in Running.

Emmet Williams, of Monroe county, is a candidate for the post of president pro tem of the senate. Over in the house it is apparent that Richard B. Russell, Jr., will be reelected speaker without opposition. Representative Ed Dicks, of Macon county, has been mentioned as a candidate but has made no definite statement as to his intentions.

The movement waged by The Constitution for an appropriation to repair and renovate the state capitol is meeting with 100 per cent support from state officials, while many influential members of the legislature have stated that the time has come for some progressive action to be taken in this case by the general assembly.

William B. Harrison, chief clerk of the state comptroller's office, has had a force of workmen cleaning up his office.

"I want to provide exhibit 'A' for the legislature so they can see the difference between a renovated office and those that have received no attention in years," he said.

Chief Justice Richard B. Russell, of the supreme court, made the interesting disclosure that he has been visited by ten chief justices of other states in recent years and has been ashamed to show them the chair and office of the chief justice of Georgia.

"I have carried them through the library into the office, and they would not see my office," he said. "I am simply ashamed to show visitors from other states this office because of its dilapidated condition."

Federal Courts Launch New War On Jury Dodgers

The ancient problem of how to dodge a jury summons promises henceforward to be so difficult as to be well nigh impossible, following the signing of an order by Judge S. H. Shibley in U.S. district court Tuesday, which provides that in the future, unless otherwise ordered, all persons drawn to appear as grand or traverse jurors for the northern district of Georgia will be served by registered mail.

The order was issued by the court following the receipt of a notice by the United States marshal's office that section 279 of the judicial code had been amended by an act of congress which makes possible the serving of jury summons by mail, provided a court order to that effect is obtained.

Previous to this summons to jury duty have been served in the city by deputy marshalls but with this new court order in effect, even these will be handed over to the postoffice department for distribution. In addition, in sending them to other districts in the northern division, they will be mailed direct instead of to the marshalls and managed to shine forth in all his brightness for a sufficient length of time to run the official thermometer up to the 50 mark after it had started at 47 degrees. Today's minimum figure is expected to be about 38 with little chance of increasing this figure more than two or three degrees.

Freezing temperatures are indicated for Thursday and Friday.

Today's unpleasant weather is expected to be rather general throughout the south with snow and rain predicted for six southern states. The central part of the country already has been visited and Alabama is preparing for a 20-degree minimum temperature today.

Chief of Police James L. Beavers Tuesday celebrated his sixty-third birthday at police headquarters with his regular routine of work. He said he was feeling great, going strong and had no intention of retiring "for a long time yet."

Rainy Weather Due for Today, Says Forecast

Sprig has dot cub.
Not to Atlanta, anyway, all high temperatures to the contrary notwithstanding. For today the elements will attempt to outdo themselves in making things unpleasant for this vicinity, according to the forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local bureau chief, who says that the early hours will be ushered in by rain and that a temperature which is scheduled to stay in the neighborhood of 40 all day will very likely bring on a little sleet and snow before the precipitation has come to a halt. This, he figures, will be late today. Old Sol played a game of hide-and-seek Tuesday and managed to shine forth in all his brightness for a sufficient length of time to run the official thermometer up to the 50 mark after it had started at 47 degrees. Today's minimum figure is expected to be about 38 with little chance of increasing this figure more than two or three degrees.

Freezing temperatures are indicated for Thursday and Friday.

-tastes better!

The two most essential things in bread are "taste" and "nutrition"—and if you have one, you'll have the other—likewise, you cannot have "nutrition" in bread without "tastiness."

Merita Bread tastes better because of the care used in selection of every baking ingredient of which it is composed, in addition to a knowledge, born of many years experience, in the art of bread baking.

We maintain an elaborate experimental laboratory for the daily testing of the materials that make Merita Bread taste better.

Every pound of flour, milk, shortening, sugar, malt, yeast and salt are bought upon specification and thoroughly tested before entering into a loaf of Merita Bread.

The baking process is in charge of Master Bakers, who know how to bake a loaf of bread with all its goodness sealed in.

Milledgeville Voices Distaste For Death Chair

BY MRS. C. B. McCULLAR.
Milledgeville, Ga., February 19.—(Special).—Preparations are being made in Milledgeville to wage an intensive fight to rid Milledgeville of the electric chair. Civic clubs and other organizations here are preparing resolutions and petitions to be presented to the Georgia legislature at its next session, providing that the chair be removed from Milledgeville. Because of the state institutions here, it is pointed out, especially the Georgia State College for Women, one of the largest educational institutions in the entire south, and the Georgia Military college, the presence of the electric chair and its horrible publicity has a bad effect here.

It should be removed to a Georgia city, it is contended, where the electric chair will not draw the same attention of the inhabitants as in a small town like Milledgeville.

A bill is being prepared for submission to coming legislature by Representative Marion H. Allen. It will be undertaken as a civic project and has the endorsement of every club and organization in Milledgeville.

The idea was advanced by J. Howard Ennis, former mayor and past president of the Georgia state senate. He suggested having six electric chairs located in the six largest cities of Georgia. Each county could then electrocute its condemned prisoners in the nearest chair, thus saving much transportation cost.

The bill will also set forth that chairs in larger towns would not have the depressing effect on inhabitants as in a small town.

Every possible effort will be made to put the bill through. The Milledgeville Chamber of Commerce, R. H. Wootton, president; Kiwanis club, headed by L. C. Hall, and all other organizations are appointing committees to cooperate in the drive for removal of the chair.

Missionary Here.

The Rev. S. M. Erickson, missionary to Japan for a quarter of a century, will speak at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Druid Hills Presbyterian church. Rev. Erickson is connected with the Southern Presbyterian church in the department of evangelism. The public is invited.

Training Received at The Southern Business College Secured Her a Good Position

New Pupils Are Now Enrolling for the Spring Term.

The spring term approaches and applications for enrollment in the Southern Business College are coming in daily.

Those who want to be able for positions in the fall are urged to begin their business courses right away.

Positions Open.

"Send us an efficient young man stenographer," was the "phone request received last week by the Southern Business Practice Department from a big railroad company, among several other requests for office help.

Mrs. Whitley, in charge of the Business Practice Department, immediately sent over a student who was just finishing his course.

"Did you secure the position?" the pupil was asked upon his return to the school.

"They were interviewing several young men from various business schools, and we were told that they would let us know," replied the young man sent over by Mrs. Whitley.

Got the Job.

Three days later the Southern pupil received a "phone message to report to the railroad company for work.

And this is the way it usually turns out when the Southern students come in competition with others—it's "the survival of the fittest."

Quite a number of the pupils have gone to good positions since the Southern's last announcement a few days ago. There never was a better time to prepare than now.

Praise From Thousands.

Over thirty thousand young men and young women, who have received their training at the Southern, are promising its praises throughout the South and abroad. The Southern's last announcement a few days ago. There never was a better time to prepare than now.

Known Everywhere.

In the mail today was a letter from Vincennes, Indiana, requesting a catalog be sent at once, and in the letter the writer stated,—"Your institution has been recommended to me."

Catalogs have also just been forwarded, by direct mail requests, to Washington, D. C.; Greensboro, Fla.; Tampa, Fla.; Johnson City, Tenn.; Lexington, Mich.; Franklin, N. C.; Chicago, Ill.; and other distant cities, showing that the Southern's reputation is widespread.

Commends the Southern.

Like thousands of other satisfied students, Miss Julia White wants the young people to know where she obtained her business education and what kind of a school it is, so she has written the following letter to the Southern:

Atlanta, Ga., February 16, 1936.
Southern Shortland and Business University,
Atlanta, Ga.
Gentlemen:

This is to thank you for the courtesy and training I received while in your school.

The preparation I received while at the Southern has enabled me to secure a position with the State Life Insurance Company, in a line of business that I like and with which I enjoy.

I recommend the Southern to anyone who wishes to learn fully the principles of work in an office. Your school is O. K. from the first department up through the entire four grades, and the Office Practice Department is just the finishing touch needed by the pupil to exercise the knowledge that is obtained before he gets into that class.

I shall always remember with pleasant thoughts the Southern, its faculty and the portion of its students that I knew.

Thanking you again and with best regards to all of you, I am,
Yours sincerely,
JULIA WHITE.

Enroll for your business training at the institution which has been accredited by the National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools—the Southern—and thereby have this distinction when you apply for a position.

"Coquette" Contest Winner Will Leave for Home Today

LAST DAY IN FILMLAND IS GREATEST

BY LILLIE MAY ROBINSON,
Special Staff Correspondent.

Hollywood, Calif., February 19.—At the close of the most delightful visit of her life, Miss Mae Everitt, winner of "The Constitution's" Mary Pickford "Coquette" contest, who has been the star's guest for the last week, will leave tomorrow for the return trip to Atlanta, and to say that she is a little sad over leaving the land of sunshine, flowers and hospitality is putting it mildly.

Just as each day's entertainment surpassed all previous, today has been the greatest yet. Our morning was spent at the Paramount studio, where we were shown through the sets of all their pictures in the making. We had lunch at the studio cafe in company with Fay Wray, now making "Four Feathers." Zasu Pitts, Mary Brian and Richard Arlen, now filming "The Man I Love." Buddy Rogers, now working on "Close Harmony." Gary Cooper, the lead in "Wolf Song." Jean Arthur, now making the "Canary Murder Case." Jack Oakie, who played the role of "Shorty" in Clara Bow's "The Fleet's In," and Dorothy Arzner, the only woman director in Hollywood.

Activities of the afternoon included a swimming party at the beautiful Ambassador hotel pool, while the people at home probably were enjoying their fires.

The Pickford party were guests at night of the management of the Carthay Circle theater, where Corinne Griffith greeted us in person and welcomed us to see her picture, "The Divine Woman."

Words cannot express the gratitude of 25 winners and 25 newspaper women to all of Hollywood for the generous reception they have accorded us, and for the unforgettable things they have done to make this visit one to be remembered always.

TWO ATLANTANS FINED

McWaters and Pettett Plead Guilty in Prohibition Case.

Two Atlanta men were fined $50 each for violation of the prohibition law Tuesday when they appeared before Judge B. S. Deaver, of the federal court at Macon and entered pleas of guilty, according to Associated Press dispatches received here. The men gave their names as Fred P. McWaters and F. M. Pettett and said they were from Atlanta.

They were taken into custody Monday by federal agents who claimed to have found about half a gallon of whisky in their automobile.

EPISCOPAL SERVICE
Church of Incarnation Announces Thursday Event.

The union service of all the Episcopal churches in and near Atlanta will be held at 8 o'clock Thursday night at the Church of the Incarnation, Lee Street near Gordon, according to an announcement by the rector, Rev. G. W. Gasque. The service will consist of the reading of evening prayer by the various visiting clergymen, with sermon by the Rev. Russell K. Smith, rector of the Church of the Epiphany.

KIWANISANS TO HEAD EDUCATIONAL DRIVE

Decision Is Reached After Hearing Address by Dr. Sam Small.

Following an address delivered by Dr. Sam Small, of the editorial staff of The Constitution Tuesday, the Atlanta Kiwanis club, at its regular meeting, launched a movement to enlist every Kiwanis organization, the purpose being to secure the south in an effort to improve educational facilities for the youth of this section.

Dr. Small, in his address, compared the south with the rest of the nation, showing that Dixie is far behind in giving boys and girls advantages they should enjoy.

At the conclusion of his talk a motion was made by Dr. Luther Christie, definitely placing the local club in the leadership of a movement to arouse citizens and citizens of all southern states to their educational needs.

Praises Kiwanis.
Dr. Small introduced his talk with references to the courageous resurrection of Atlanta from the ashes of war to this high forenoon of municipal affluence and prestige. To her glorification of the Kiwanis, whose brains, energy and ambition are represented by the Kiwanians have contributed their splendid quotas.

"The Kiwanis slogan is 'We Build' and it is highly worthwhile to build capitol, churches, colleges, schools, theaters, beautiful residences and improve commercial structures. It is one thing to trade, to build, to build honestly into daily business, and integrity into our civic and commercial life. But all these are the accessories and ornaments of civilization, and not its heart and spirit. My wish for Kiwanis and its allies is that it will strive also to build that public opinion that is the power behind the law or the demon destructive of any civilization."

It is education that forms the common mind and the passion for the education of the youth of Georgia is a desperate one with me. We must build for the future in the brains and spirit of our incoming generation, on our towers and domes will fall us and fall as did those of imperial Rome.

With an ignorant and plebeian people, denied the rights of self-determination, a Caesar like Augustus could build Rome from mud huts into marble palaces, but the palaces could not prevent the ruin of the magnificent city by Goth and Hun.

"The Greeks knew a better philosophy and wrote over the portals of their academies that 'the wealth of the mind is the only true wealth.' The true wealth of Georgia is hidden in the brains of our children and if we would hold our civilization and advance the state to their right, we must draw out that mental wealth and coin it into wisdom, power and the just pride of patriotism."

"For example, the average public school term in our 48 states is more, by one-and-a-half to three months than in the eleven strictly southern states. In some of the school for white children the term is from five to six months, and one-third of our southern school population is getting only two-thirds of the schooling given the average children of the nation. In the south each enrolled pupil, on the average, attends only 72 per cent of the school days. The average American child gets seven years of the schooling, but the children of the south get less than five years and in some of our states less than four years."

"We of the south pay our teachers, principals and supervisors about 58 per cent of what is paid to the like public service in the north, the Potomac and Ohio rivers. In some states we pay only one-third as much. Our expenditures for school equipment are 35 per cent of the national average and our payments per pupil are around half the same average. A half million southern children have no school opportunities and a quarter million each of native-born white women and men are too illiterate to read a word of the Declaration of Independence!"

Cities Compared.
"In Atlanta we pay $60 per annum for each pupil in our schools. There are only 3 cities, in a list of the first 60 cities of the nation, wherein less is paid, and they are the southern cities of Birmingham, Memphis and Nashville. Rochester, with about our population, pays $146.63 per pupil; Yonkers in New York has 121,300 population and pays $145.55; Springfield in Massachusetts has 150,000 people and pays $126.97; and Grand Rapids, Michigan, with 104,200 inhabitants, pays $124.98."

"What shall we do to banish this shame from our life and our escutcheon open to the gaze of the world? Let it be time Kiwanians, to begin a strong drive to build a public opinion that will force our administration to give our children the intelligence and power to make the most of the material heritages we are so strenuously preparing for them?"

"There is no defense for our present educational conditions. The statement from any source, by anybody, that we people of Georgia are too poor to educate our children equally with those of any other state of the union is simply a damned lie!"

A sweep of applause greeted the conclusion of the speech.

DEKALB OPERATING EXPENSES SHOW LARGE DECREASE

Decatur, Ga., February 19.—(Special.)—The cost of operating expenses of DeKalb county has decreased considerably under the salary system which replaced the old fee method, according to L. T. Y. Nash, county commissioner.

Recently an audit was made and it showed that the county's gross income from fees for the year 1928 amounted to $79,910.84.

The county's assets were listed as $2,472,293.23 and liabilities, consisting of current indebtedness and the bonded indebtedness were $1,207,422.97.

The gross income of the county from all sources for 1928 was $787,897.40.

BORGLUM RETURN RUMOR VIGOROUSLY DENIED BY WILLIS

Rumors that the Stone Mountain Memorial association is negotiating with Gutzon Borglum to resume work on Stone Mountain memorial were denied Tuesday by G. F. Willis, president of the association, in a telegram answering a query from The Washington Post.

"Answering your wire, there is no truth whatever in report that Stone Mountain Memorial association is negotiating with Gutzon Borglum to resume work on Stone Mountain memorial," Mr. Willis wired. "This is typical of the propaganda put out by Borglum since his dismissal. The association is under contract with Lukeman and he will complete the work. Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and Junior chamber of commerce and all other civic and patriotic organizations are squarely behind the association and Lukeman."

Pelley Carrier Parallel With Cliff's Revealed In Central of Georgia Change

Both Men Began Careers in Illinois Only Year Apart; Both Rose to Top From Bottom.

Savannah, Ga., February 19.—(AP) The singularly parallel careers of two men in their climb from the bottom to the top of the Central of Georgia Railway system was emphasized today in the election of John J. Pelley to the presidency of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad and the selection of Albert E. Cliff to succeed him as president of the Central of Georgia Railway.

Mr. Cliff relinquished the senior vice presidency of the Illinois Central to assume direction of the Central of Georgia presidency and Cliff to the post he held until today.

There is a difference of nine years in their ages, Mr. Pelley being 51 and Mr. Cliff 60. Both are married.

Mr. Pelley, a New York Central man, who also will assume the presidency of the Ocean Steamship company, an adjunct of the railroad, arrived here today to acquaint himself with his new duties prior to the departure of Mr. Pelley, whose headquarters will be in New York.

The changes are effective on March 1.

Rail Officials Meet At Savannah With Pelley and Cliff

Savannah, Ga., February 19.—(AP) Charles H. Markham, chairman of the board of the Illinois Central system and the Central of Georgia Railway; Lawrence A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central; Lewis W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific railway; and John J. Pelley, president-elect of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railway, met in Savannah today.

Added to the group of big railroad men was Albert Earl Cliff, who was elected president of the Central of Georgia, succeeding Mr. Pelley, who resigned today from the Central's presidency.

Mr. Pelley's election as president of the New Haven road is the third president of the Central of Georgia railway in a decade to be chosen head of a large railroad system. The first was L. W. Baldwin, then L. A. Downs, and now Mr. Pelley. Mr. A. (Chill) formerly operating vice president of the Seaboard Air Line railway, with headquarters here, also was graduated to the chairmanship of the board of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway within the last year.

Mr. Markham and Mr. Baldwin left aboard the same train for Florida today.

BARLOW TRIAL BEGINS

Former Hospital Worker Is Accused of Assault.

Hearing of assault and battery charges against H. R. Barlow, former assistant superintendent of the Georgia Baptist hospital, began Tuesday in Fulton superior court. Barlow is being tried under an "omnibus bill" indictment which contains 11 counts, each charging the defendant with assault and battery on youths. In court Tuesday, some of the youthful witnesses testified that Barlow whipped them with a strap in his room at the hospital.

BAD CHECK CHARGED

John Smith Is Indicted by Grand Jury.

Three charges of passing forged checks and one of passing a bad check were contained in grand jury indictments returned Tuesday against Mark Wilkins, alias John Smith, alias James Smith, alias Will Jackson. Williams is alleged to have passed a forged check for $15 on Johnnie Braswell, of the King Hardware company, on February 7; a forged check for $5 on the King Hardware company on February 6; a bad check for $15 on C. A. Duncan, of 25 1-2 Peachtree, on February 2; and a forged check for $10 on J. P. Gordon, of 117 Piedmont, N. E., on February 5.

committee luncheon of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. The luncheon will begin at 12:30 o'clock, and reservations should be made by letter or telephone to the chamber of commerce offices.

Special invitations are being sent out to trade journal folk by the W. R. C. Smith Publishing company, publishers of the Southern Power Journal and other magazines, and to members of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers by C. P. Baker, an officer of the local section.

Mr. Feiker is managing director of the Associated Business Papers, Inc., a member of various engineering societies, and active in the national advertising field.

In 1921, Herbert Hoover invited Mr. Feiker to join him in Washington as assistant to the secretary of commerce to aid in its reorganization. Mr. Feiker spent eighteen months in that work. For several years afterward he was operating vice president of the Society for Electrical Development. He is said to be a forceful and interesting speaker.

MAKERS OF PAPER BOXES WILL OPEN SESSIONS TODAY

The southern division of the National Paper Box Manufacturers' association opens its annual two-day convention at the Biltmore today. Paper box manufacturers from Virginia to Texas are represented at the meeting. James H. Hickman, of Knoxville, chairman of the southern division, will preside.

Wednesday's program will be featured by an address by Harry T. Moore, manager Atlanta freight bureau, on "Freight Rates As Applied to the Set-Up Paper Box Industry," followed by a general discussion of cost schedules. Other speakers for Wednesday are Howard T. Beckett, of Philadelphia, commissioner of the National Paper Box Manufacturers' association, who will discuss "Business of Today," and Resident Manager Douglas, of Price Waterhouse company, whose subject is "Statistics for the Business Man."

S. Fred Tauscher, of Richmond, is secretary of the southern division.

A DAIR, THRASHER TO ATTEND MEETING ON GRAIN STANDARD

Thomas Adair, feed chemist in the state chemical department, and J. C. Thrasher, of the pure food and drug department, will leave for Chicago Thursday to attend a conference of federal officers in charge of the fixing of federal and state grain standards, it was announced Tuesday by J. Frampton King, state chemist.

The visit follows a conference held in the office of Mr. King recently which was attended by H. J. Besley, chief of the grain division of the bureau of agricultural economics of Washington, D. C.; C. L. Russell, federal grain inspector, stationed at Indianapolis, Ind., and J. T. Murphy, of the grain division, Washington.

Grading of grain raised in the various states is of vast importance to the farmers who produce the grain and the Georgia officials will spend

INTERNAL REVENUE DEPUTIES TO HELP INCOME TAX PAYERS

Beginning February 25 and continuing until March 15 deputies from the office of J. T. Rose, collector of internal revenue, will be sent out to various parts of the state to aid Georgia income taxpayers in preparations of returns as was done last year, it was announced Tuesday by Mr. Rose.

W. E. MITCHELL NAMED ICE COMPANY DIRECTOR

Georgia Power Co. Vice President Honored at Stockholders' Meeting.

W. E. Mitchell, vice president and general manager of the Georgia Power company, Tuesday was elected to the board of directors of the Atlantic Ice and Coal company at the annual stockholders' meeting. Mr. Mitchell's addition to the board marked the only change in the directorate and executive organization of the company resulting from the stockholders' meeting this year.

The annual report of President W. B. Baker constituted the chief interest of the meeting in addition to re-election of old officers and directors and the naming of Mr. Mitchell as a director. The report declared the company's business to be operating on a highly satisfactory basis with returns for the year just passed very favorable. F. G. Gordon, secretary and treasurer of the company, announced that the Atlantic Ice and Coal company executives are W. B. Baker, president; W. E. Mitchell, vice president; W. Riley, vice president; D. W. Dyer, vice president; F. G. Gordon, secretary and treasurer; E. B. Baker, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer; and A. B. Pope, general manager.

SARGON ENDED 20 YEARS SUFFERING, MRS. OAK STATES

"I Want All My Friends
To Know How This Grand Medicine Restored My Health."

"I read in the papers about the great number of people getting relief through Sargon and I bought some just as soon as I could find it in San Antonio."

MRS. JULIA OAK.

"I suffered from stomach troubles for twenty years and about three years ago I became so terribly run-down that I could not attend to my household duties without stopping to rest."

"At times I would have such severe pains in my stomach after meals that I would have to run for the soda box. Nothing helped me, and I even had the best medicine I could buy but it did not reach my case."

"But Sargon went right to the root of my trouble without losing a minute's time. I never saw anything like it. I felt better from the very first dose, and now I find that I can eat anything I want without any ill effects. I am not the least bit nervous and I feel so well and strong that even after I get through with my household work I want to be up and on the go."

The Sargon Soft Mass Pills completely overcame my liver trouble and constipation. They act so gently that they did not upset my system or make me the least bit sick like other laxatives."

"I know from experience that the Sargon treatment will end stomach and liver complaints. I feel just like I have been made a over like new, and I want all my friends to know what this grand medicine will do for them."

The above statement was made recently by Mrs. Julia Oak, well-known and highly esteemed resident of R. F. D. No. 1, Box 157, San Antonio, Texas, whose motherly kindness has endeared her to hundreds of neighbors and friends in her community.

The Sargon representative is at Jacobs' main store, 6 and 8 Marietta street, where he is meeting the public and explaining the merits of the medicine. Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills may also be obtained at the other Jacobs' stores all over Atlanta.—(adv.)

HEATING, PLUMBING PAPER IS HELD UP FOR FURTHER STUDY

Mayor J. N. Ragsdale Tuesday approved all papers sent to him by city council with the exception of award of contracts for heating and plumbing and equipment for 10 Atlanta schools. The mayor held these papers up for further study and probably will complete his work on them this morning.

Under action of city council Monday afternoon W. P. Price, city purchasing agent, retained his authority to make purchases up to $500 without action of the purchasing committee of city council. Members of council approved an adverse report of the ordinance committee that the limit be reduced from $500 to $350.

Council decided to adopt the adverse report was predicted on a claim of department heads, including Steve R. Johnston, superintendent of Grady hospital, that a reduction to the $350 figure would hamper seriously filling of emergency orders.

GRINSTEAD STATEMENT DENIED BY EX-SHERIFF

M. L. McRae, former sheriff of Montgomery county, Tuesday denied statements by Grif Grinstead, under death sentence for murder, that he had helped the condemned man to escape from prison where he was serving a life sentence for another slaying.

The former sheriff's denial was made before the state prison commission during a plea of the condemned man's attorneys for commutation of sentence imposed for the slaying of Homer Stuckey, a Montgomery county policeman, who sought to arrest Grinstead.

The commission announced after the hearing that recommendations in the case would be sent to Governor L. G. Hardman today. Grinstead is under sentence to die February 22.

The charges that Sheriff McRae aided him to escape and subsequently aided him in eluding arrest were made by Grinstead in his sworn statement to the jury in his trial for slaying Stuckey and were included in the record of the case accompanying the man's plea for clemency.

The statement charged the ex-sheriff with having purposely failed to take Grinstead into custody after his escape while serving on a previous sentence of life for murder. It also charged the sheriff had visited Grinstead at the Bibb county jail and given him money. He denied all the charges in the statement, except that he visited Grinstead at Macon.

Affidavits indorsing the integrity of McRae, signed by numerous public officials of Montgomery county, were read by attorneys representing the prosecution at today's hearing. One affidavit, that of the guard who had Grinstead in charge at the time of his escape, declared "my statement to the effect that Sheriff McRae assisted Grinstead to escape is absurd and untrue." The guard also said that the sheriff gave him every possible assistance in his efforts to locate and capture Grinstead immediately following the escape.

Attorneys representing Grinstead Tuesday based their plea for clemency on the grounds of Grinstead's ignorance and his expressed belief that he was being besieged by a mob at the time Stuckey was shot. W. O. Cooper, Jr., of Macon, and Grinstead did not think officers of Montgomery county "would lay the weight of their hands on him" because of his friendship for the sheriff.

Mr. Cooper also declared that the verdict should have been manslaughter instead of murder, because Grinstead did not know the men who went to his home for him were officers and they did not identify themselves as such before the shooting commenced.

J. Wade Johnson, of Mt. Vernon, who directed Grinstead's defense at the trial, declared Grinstead's statement was corroborated by state witnesses, and that one of the officers of the party could just as well have been charged with killing Stuckey as Grinstead. He described the nature of Stuckey's crime and the relative positions of Stuckey, Grinstead and another of the party of officers in support of this declaration.

Will Wooten, of Eastman, retained as special prosecutor to resist clemency to Grinstead, and L. C. Underwood, who was appointed acting solicitor general in the trial, spoke in opposition to commuting the death sentence. Both these attorneys pointed to the record of the case, ex-Sheriff McRae's reputation and what they termed Grinstead's criminal instincts as factors in the man's conviction.

Affidavits attesting the good character of Homer Stuckey were also introduced by the prosecution. They contended the verdict of the jury was just and the only verdict that could have been returned under the evidence.

THIEF GETS 20 YEARS Negro Is Convicted on Burglary Charge.

Twenty years on the chain-gang was given Moultrie Radford, alias Frank Johnson, negro, Tuesday by Judge John S. Wood in Fulton superior court when Radford pleaded guilty to burglary charges. The severity of sentence was brought about by the fact that Radford had been sentenced before on similar charges, it was said. Judge Wood is in the Ridge circuit and is sitting on the Fulton bench due to the illness of Judge E. D. Thomas.

SHRINE DIGNITARIES CONVENE AT MACON

Two Circus Elephants Lead Parade in Welcoming New Georgia Ruler.

Macon, Ga., February 19.—(AP)—Two circus elephants, one bearing Frank C. Jones, imperial potentate of the Shrine, today led into Macon hundreds of visiting nobles for a day of celebration.

The other elephant supported Tom C. Law, potentate of Yaarab temple of Atlanta, and plodded ahead of a parade through the downtown district of Shriners from all portions of the state, gathered here in welcome to the new imperial potentate.

Festivities that lasted into the night, culminating with vaudeville and a dance at the municipal auditorium, was the Georgia welcome to the new ruler. Streets of the city were alive throughout the day with blazing regalia of Al Sihah temple of Macon, Alce temple of Savannah, the Shrine clubs of Albany and Columbus, and Yaarab temple of Atlanta.

The imperial potentate, on a round of visits from Houston, Texas, arrived shortly after 11:45 o'clock, escorted on a special train from Atlanta by all bodies of Yaarab temple. Potentate Lane Mullally and the divan of Al Sihah temple met him at the station.

Formal before the termination of state rights and the conflict between capital and labor, which he said had been brought to an amicable settlement in a stirring plea for the upbuilding of a sentiment which would make wars impossible in the future. "Let us dedicate and reconsecrate our lives for the promotion of better conditions and the uplift of our people," he pleaded.

Long lines of nobles with the fez of Al Sihah, Alce and Yaarab marched behind, ahead of the Yaarab "Million Dollar" band, uniformed in green. Followed Yaarab patrol, brilliant in green and red and yellow, the Yaarab chanters, clad in blue, and the Atlanta degree team.

The band of Al Sihah, the band of the Al Oula Shrine club, of Columbus, and Shriners of Macon in the Al Sihah patrol came next, no less brilliantly arrayed.

Rain during the afternoon dampened the fez of visiting nobles but not before the Yaarab band and patrol had given an exhibition concert and drill.

DRY LAW NEEDS FAIR TRIAL, WALKER SAYS

Prohibition Has Undermined Respect for Law, Leader Admits.

Speaking at the weekly meeting of the Lions club at the Henry Grady hotel Tuesday afternoon on "Fifty Years of Development in Government," ex-Governor Clifford Walker declared that the prohibition law has not yet been given a fair trial and that its continued violation undoubtedly had done a great deal to undermine respect for law in the United States, but that, in his opinion, a sentiment would develop which would enable the law to be enforced.

"The excessive use of alcohol is undoubtedly a great evil," he stated, "and I believe the day will come when people will forego its use in order to enforce the law."

Referring to the United States constitution, Governor Walker declared that it was by far the greatest document of its kind that has ever been drawn up and that it served as a model for all time for other governments throughout the world. As an example of its elasticity, he pointed out how the courts of the country, by interpreting it, had made it applicable in the last few years to the question of big business combines. He also touched on the question of states rights and the conflict between capital and labor, which he said had been brought to an amicable settlement in a stirring plea for the upbuilding of a sentiment which would make wars impossible in the future. "Let us dedicate and reconsecrate our lives for the promotion of better conditions and the uplift of our people," he pleaded.

A. A. C. Defends Clean Against Yellow Jackets Tonight

Fifth District Cage Tournament Starts Today At Chamblee

Tech To Play Minus Service Of Sid Goldin

Rival Quintets Will Clash at 8:30 O'Clock at Tech Gym; Fast Scrap Expected.

Basketball of a thrilling and interesting sort is in order tonight at 8:30 o'clock when the Atlanta Athletic club meets Tech on the latter's court in the second of the season between the two.

On their last meeting the club emerged victorious, only after a hard battle, and won out by a few points. Both teams put up a brilliant defense, but the Athletic club's held intact the longest and the Athletic club, for that reason, won.

Since that meeting, almost a month ago, the Jackets have ranted through the conference, knocking over opponents right and left. Only one team has been obstinate and that was Tennessee, which a week ago defeated the Jackets by a score of 30 to 25 in what everyone refers to as an upset.

That, however, is the only conference loss the Jackets have suffered. They have improved materially since their trimming by the club, all of which augurs a very close game tonight.

The club has yet to run into a team that is capable of stopping Joe McCrory and Sam Ridgway in their defensive work beneath the baskets, or Pat Stephens in his goal-shooting spree. Joe Bean has put a team together over on Carnegie way that has had little trouble with anything that it has faced this season, and it has met some of the best teams that the Southern conference has to offer.

Tech, with its defense centering around Wages, is without the services of Sid Goldin, excellent guard, who recently ruptured a blood vessel in his leg. Goldin went out Saturday night when the Jackets defeated Auburn. Jim Brook, of the football squad, is substituting for him.

DOUGLAS TIGERS BEAT BAXLEY CAGERS 56-32

Douglas, Ga., February 19.—(P)—The Douglas Tigers completely wrecked the Baxley cagers' south Georgia basketball championship hopes when they defeated the Comets here by a score of 56 to 32.

Dropping in many long-distance shots, Taylor, Douglas center, bagged a total of 22 points for his team. He was followed by Kirkland, his teammate, who shot 11 points. The game was marked by close guarding by the Tigers.

Georgia Boxer Wins Knockout in Florida

St. Petersburg, Fla., February 19.—(P)—Battling Finch, of Savannah, Ga., scored a seven-round knockout over Marshall Blackstock, of Tulsa, Okla., in the main event of the American Legion boxing program here tonight.

Finch scored knockdowns in nearly every round but was badly battered about the face when the bout ended.

Boots Taylor, of Tampa, won by a foul in the third round from Mike Cima, of Pittsburgh, in the semi-final bout. Cima scored two knockdowns in the first frame but deliberately hit Taylor while he was on the floor in the final stanza.

Hamm Rests Easy After Operation

Attendants at the bedside of Ed Hamm, Georgia Tech broad jump and sprint star, who went under the knife Tuesday morning for an appendicitis operation, said late Tuesday that Hamm had rested splendidly after the operation.

His athletic body made the operation a simple one and he spent the day in sleeping.

Hamm will be lost to the Jackets as a result of the operation. His stellar performances on the track and in the jumping pits, which have kept Coach Barron's Tech cinder team as one of the best in the south for the past three years, will be missed, as will his senior year at the Flats.

HANLON'S CARD SEEN AS BEST YET PRESENTED

The Thursday night fight card promises to be the best that Promoter Eddie Hanlon has offered Atlanta fans. It involves two scrappers of equal ability and pugilists, who in past encounters have proved that they are "mixers." They are Ted Goodrich and Willie Pomey.

Pomey proved his worth in his fights here with Sam Attaway and Tillie Kid Herman. In the first encounter he lost a close decision, but his efforts bore fruit in the second round when he landed a knee wallop on Mr. Herman. That victory saved the Atlanta fans the desire to see more of Pomey.

The latter has a draw decision with Goodrich to his credit and he has been quoted as saying that "after the Thursday night fight I'll be one victory up on Goodrich."

However, Goodrich is expected to wage an even more furious battle against Pomey than he did in his scrap with Attaway. He kayaked the latter in the fourth round, thereby establishing himself with the hands of fans who turned out for Promoter Hanlon's first show of the 1929 season. Hanlon was much impressed with Goodrich's skill and has promised to headline Ted, so long as he continues to win his Atlanta bouts. That is an added incentive for Goodrich to strut his pugilistic talents Thursday night.

Other Jam-Up Bouts.

While the main event is expected to provoke most of the thrills considerable interest is being displayed in the eight-round semi-windup, which will headline the show. It is the Young Jack Dempsey battling to annul the draw that they fought here a few weeks ago.

Close to a hundred LaGrange fans have made reservations for the Thursday night show and are coming here for the sole purpose of seeing Cardwell flatten Dempsey. Cardwell has promised to fight that bout, but he will have a tough time making good. Dempsey is just as anxious as his LaGrange foe to win and will shoot the fight in the auditorium encounter.

Opening Gun To Be Fired At 4 O'Clock

U. S. B. and Boys' High Will Meet in Feature; G. M. A. To Forfeit Tilt.

BY D. A. HALLMAN.

The fifth district basketball tournament gets under way this afternoon at Chamblee with 12 teams seeking the title now held by University School for Boys. The first game will start at 4 p. m.

The winner will be eligible to play in the state meet at Athens next month.

One of the teams originally scheduled to play has withdrawn. Georgia Military academy, winners of the city prep title Monday in 1927 victory over Tech High, will forfeit its first round match today to the Smithies.

Coach Taliaferro has announced he will enter the College Park team in the Chattanooga Times tournament next week and will not enter the district tournament. The academy team is not eligible to enter the state meet, being classified as a military academy, and a victory at Chamblee would mean little to the strong city champions.

First Game of Day.

G. M. A. is pointing for the G. I. A. A. tournament to be held in Atlanta March 13-16 under the auspices of The Constitution. Coach Taliaferro said.

The first game of the day is set for 4 o'clock and will bring together Lithonia and Avondale under the new schedule of play announced yesterday by officials in charge.

Fulton, High of Atlanta and Conyers High will clash in the second game set for 4:30 o'clock. An hour later two of the strongest teams in the tournament will meet in the Boys' High-U. S. B. battle. University school, winner of the district championship last year, will be out to repeat over the Hurricane, which has shown signs of going state in the past week.

Tech High vs. G. M. A.

Tech High and G. M. A. are scheduled to clash at 8:30 but the Smithies will be awarded a forfeit unless Coach Taliaferro makes a last-minute reversal of his decision not to enter the team. Should the Jackets change their mind and play they will be overwhelming favorites to defeat the Smithies and win the championship.

CHAMBLEE GIRLS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP.

Chamblee, Ga., February 19.—(Special).—The Chamblee High girls closed the most successful season here tonight by defeating the strong Clarkston quintet in the finals of the girls' basketball tournament. The score was 12-5, and by virtue of being on the long side of the score, the Chamblee lassies are today wearing the crown of the fifth district champions.

During the last two months the girls literally smashed their way to victory over the outstanding girl teams of the district. Tonight's game marked the third time that the two teams, Clarkston and Chamblee, have met and each time Chamblee has won.

Uzudun Watches Strib-Sharkey Go

New York, February 19.—(United News).—Paulino Uzudun, who meets K. O. Christner, of Akron, Ohio, in the feature 10-round fight at Madison Square Garden Friday night, is more interested in the Strib-Sharkey bout at Miami Beach than in his own engagement.

The big Basque is confident he will finish nothing more than a good deal, awaiting him at the hands of the hard-hitting rubber puffer, while he feels that his future lies in the possible success of Jack Sharkey at Miami Beach.

Paulino's greatest ambition, he says, is a bout with Sharkey, and he feels that the winner of such a bout would boast an almost indisputable title claim. He signed to meet Sharkey at the Garden last November but the fight never materialized.

A. D. Sawyer Is Elected Florida Tank Captain

Gainesville, Fla., February 19.—(P)—Audrey D. Sawyer, of Jacksonville, was elected captain of the 1929 swimming team of the University of Florida today. Sawyer, a junior in the school of architecture, was one of the Gator's high point aquatic stars last season.

Florida will engage the Georgia Tech tankmen in Atlanta on April 6, with a number of other meets tentatively arranged.

World's Record.

B. W. Stonebreaker, of Roanoke, claims the world's duckpin record of 719. He also claims an average of 152 for seven consecutive games, another world's record.

Stop Headache In Few Minutes

The next time you have headache, neuralgia, rheumatic or periodic pain, try the improved method of relief—a few teaspoonfuls of Capudine in a little water. Being liquid, Capudine acts almost instantly, much quicker than tablets and powders, and is more effective.

SPORTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

A bystander wishes to know why it is that all good long distance runners come from colder climates. "Figure it out," he writes. "Nurmi, Rittola, Stenroos, Conger, Lermom, Ray, Purje and others lived in a long way from the farmer suns. The colder climate must be better for condition, something football has also proved." There was a pretty fair long distance runner from Italy known as Dorando. There also was a pretty fair runner named Oufai, or something to that effect, who did most of his training over the desert sands where they have few light frosts. A song hit once referred to the sands of the desert getting cold, but this miracle hasn't transpired yet. As for football and the colder climates, how many football teams last fall turned out higher class work or played than Southern California and Georgia Tech? It takes tremendous ambition and a great sturdiness of soul for any one to adopt long distance running in tropical zones. It isn't natural, and the inclination to walk 40 yards has to be developed, much less the idea of dashing four or five miles.

Nurmi, from Finland, no tropical runner, won the 10,000 meters race in Paris 1924, with the thermometer registering 101. He wasn't able to run as fast ten days ago in New York for the simple reason that five years demand a certain tax on the climate has a lot to do with condition as long as one can keep out doors. The big point is that one will keep out doors more frequently in pleasant weather than in the tropics.

Heavyweight champions haven't come from colder zones. Jim Jeffries and Jim Corbett came from California. Jack Johnson came from Texas. Stribling, from Georgia, says he intends to remove Sharkey, of Boston, from the heavyweight plateau. Which is yet to be decided. At least here is another test of colder and warmer climates. It comes to the matter of producing a winner.

A Pugilistic Ranking.

In the milling pugilistic gathering at Miami Beach, I ran across an old-time fight fan, trainer and manager who had his definite ideas of the top spots of pugilism. Here was his ranking: Fastest of all with head and hands, young Griffo; fastest of all with body and feet, Jim Corbett; best combination biter and boxer, Joe Gans; best all around fighters, pound for pound, Lavigne and Fitzsimmons; and Terry McGovern and Jack Dempsey.

"When you figure Fitzsimmons winning the heavyweight championship beyond 35 years of age and weighing 200 pounds, you get some idea of how good the Cornishman was. In my opinion it was the most impressive performance, all handicaps of age and weight considered, in the history of the ring." It's a tough game, and at 28 you can see how far back Tilden and Nurmi and others have slipped at less tougher games. The lightweights have furnished most of the class. What other weights have turned out such a parade as Gans, Lavigne, Griffo, Nelson, Wolgast, Welsh and Leonard? There have been some heavyweights among the lightweights—several sour spots—the very few among the lightweight stars.

The Next Heavyweight Champion.

The name of the next heavyweight champion may be six months away or it may be a year away. To become established in Tunney's vacant throne he will have to be some one good enough to beat up the list, and to then beat up beyond any halting doubts. The next champion will need a few knockouts, one or two at least, although Tunney has defended his crown without stopping any rival, Dempsey. There will be no public recognition of any new champion who doesn't earn his place somewhat decisively. The situation may be partly changed up when Stribling and Sharkey finish their show, provided one of them can win with something more than a span to spar. No eyelash stuff will put either one at the top of the class. They will start the heavyweight march off with a rush and they can gum it up for some time to come.

Fight Game Lures Cancela, Grid Star

Tampa, Fla., February 19.—(P)—Tony Cancela, picked by several experts as all southern prep school half-back last fall and all state star two years while on the Hillsborough (Tampa) High school grid team, today signed a contract to become a professional boxer. He is 18 years old, weighs 184 pounds and graduates this spring.

Sophomore Wrestlers Carry Tarheel Hopes

Chapel Hill, N. C., February 19.—(P)—The Southern conference boxing tournament at Charlottesville, Va., just around the corner, so to speak, North Carolina's Tarheels are looking for a sophomore team to retain its title.

With but two regulars from the championship team of 1928, Captain Charlie Brown, middleweight, and Archie Allen, welterweight, on hand, Coach Chuck Quinlan is depending on six sophomores to hold the crown.

Evans Vandusen, bantamweight; Harry Sheffield, featherweight; Noah Goodridge, lightweight; Obie Davis, welterweight, and John Warren, heavyweight, brother of Ad of professional fame, are the five first year varsity men considered outstanding.

Jackets Receive Gold Watches

Members of the Georgia Tech national championship football team are now forced to seek some other excuse for being late to classes than the old one about "I haven't any watch." For Monday at 11 o'clock the gridiron stalwarts were presented with handsome gold, engraved watches by the Tech Athletic association.

In addition to those who played in the California game, coaches, officials of the school, including Dr. M. L. Brittain, president, were presented with watches and also five newspapermen who went to California. The watches—green, vermillion, pentagonal shape—were purchased by the Athletic association through Latham & Atkinson.

Locke Wins in Roque Match With Ex-titlist

St. Petersburg, Fla., February 19.—(P)—Irving I. Locke, of New Jersey, continued his championship roque here today and turned in his ninth straight victory, trouncing President Hoagland, a former champion, by 32 to 26, and then defeating W. F. Lewis, of East Liverpool, Ohio, by 32 to 15.

Locke is being favored to win the national diamond medal, which was in his possession in 1927.

Tech Tankmen Leave Today On Long Tour

Jacket Swimmers Will Face Three Eastern Teams While Away.

BY HERB CLARK.

The Georgia Tech tank team will entrain this afternoon at 4:30 for the east, where they will face some of the leading national of the northern seaboard schools in the pools of that section.

The Jackets will make their first stop at Princeton, N. J., where they will meet the Tigers in their home lair. This meet looks to be a toss-up at present. The Tigers have a good, but somewhat erratic squad this year. They have won meets by overwhelming scores, but they have lost by margins just as big to teams of apparently equal strength. They are at present in fourth place in the eastern tank league.

This meet is to be held Friday night.

Saturday the Jackets will face the Middies and the Pitt Panthers in a three-cornered meet at Annapolis. Both of these teams have shown plenty of stuff this season, and things look rather dark for the Jackets on this occasion.

The last meet on the jacket trip is scheduled for Monday night, when the Jackets will dash to set new records. McKinstry now holds the titles, having set up new marks of his own in later meets last year.

The jackets have put out a lot of work for Jack Gray, who is coaching the Tech swimmers this year. He has spent most of his time in correcting the styles of the members of his squad, and they have reacted favorably to the treatment. Most of the Jackets have lost a second or two from the previous times, and the squad which is making the eastern invasion should turn in a good record, according to the word of Coach Gray.

Nine men will make the trip and will be accompanied by Dr. A. H. Armstrong, of the Tech faculty. The squad will be headed by Captain Dick McKinstry, and will include Red Holleman, Buster Walker, Frank Maier, Fleming Cooper, Bill Simpkins, Hugh Shackelford and "Bus" Brown.

Illinois To Permit Loughran Fight

Chicago, February 19.—(United News).—The Illinois boxing commission will sanction the light heavyweight championship bout between Tommy Loughran, defender, and Mickey Walker March 13, if Jack Kearns, manager of the middleweight titleholder, will meet the commission's requirements, Chairman Paul Prehn announced tonight.

Kearns must show the commission certified copies of the contract for the Walker-Ace Hudsons fight at Las Vegas, Nev., July 4, and post a forfeit of $25,000 to guarantee Mickey's defense of his title.

Paul Prehn Harmon today announced he had set up a purse of $150,000 for the Loughran-Walker bout which will open the new Chicago stadium.

Loughran will get all the purse and Walker only a $10,000 training expense guarantee. But if Loughran wins, he will get $100,000 and Walker will receive $50,000.

Red Sox To Play On Braves' Field

Boston, February 19.—(P)—The Boston Red Sox announced today that they would play their Sunday games here this season at Braves field, home of the National league club.

The Red Sox were unable to schedule their Sunday games at their own grounds, Fenway Park, because it is within 1,000 feet of a church, which would result in a violation of the Sunday sports law.

Miss Van Wie Victor In First Round Match

Palm Beach, Fla., February 19.—(P)—Miss Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, set forth vigorously today in defense of her title when she defeated Mrs. J. F. Tronstine, New York, 4 to 2 in the first round of the annual Florida women's championship.

Yesterday, Miss Van Wie shot par golf to win the medal honors in the qualifying round.

Miss Helen Hicks, Hewlett Bay, N. Y., who won the recent Miami women's golf tourney, vanquished Mrs. J. N. Wallace, of Del Ray Beach, Fla., 1 and 5. Miss Hicks tied for second place with an 82 in the qualifying round yesterday and is one of the gallery favorites to win this tournament.

Canadian Again Wins Lawn Bowling Match

St. Petersburg, Fla., February 19.—(P)—George Arbutick, entrant from Toronto, Ont., Canada, entered the semi-final round of the singles national open lawn bowling championship here today when he defeated N. A. Melvin of this city by 21 to 18. This is the third time that the Canadian entry has placed in the prize list, winning honors in the chamber of commerce championship, the doubles and singles.

The semi-final round will be played Wednesday with the finals in both singles and doubles slated for Thursday when the national open will come to an end.

Locke Wins in Roque Match With Ex-titlist

St. Petersburg, Fla., February 19.—(P)—Irving I. Locke, of New Jersey, continued his championship roque here today and turned in his ninth straight victory, trouncing President Hoagland, a former champion, by 32 to 26, and then defeating W. F. Lewis, of East Liverpool, Ohio, by 32 to 15.

Locke is being favored to win the national diamond medal, which was in his possession in 1927.

A Craig Kennedy Mystery Story.

By ARTHUR B. REEVE.

INSTALLMENT III.
It was Kennedy's opportunity. "Ever play tag?" he asked Junior.

"All right," accepted the young gentleman, eagerly.
Like a flash Craig had tagged him and was in the hall. "Where is your mother's room, Junior?"
"Right next to the nursery," was the answer.

"Catch me, Junior, if you can!" Away darted Craig.

He allowed himself to be cornered; then took refuge in Doris Kane's room. Dot and I followed. It was the nursery. Kennedy glanced over at the wall safe, as indicated by Stanley Kane when he visited the laboratory, then at me. I had to use diplomacy and help him.

Watching every movement he made, in case he needed immediate assistance, I managed somehow to divert the attention of the children from Kennedy to me.

Quickly Craig worked. With the combination which Stanley Kane had confided to him he opened the wall safe. No part of it he seemed to miss. Every mark, every inch of surface, inside and out, he examined, now and then tapping it. I was looking, too, and saw nothing wrong about the safe.

It was more strange. Someone must have taken the jewels which the combination—and most ladies with jewels do not recklessly publish about the combination of the safe. I wondered.

Looking about me, I realized the amount of money it must take to live like this. Certainly Doris Kane had an incentive to take the jewels. In that respect I felt the insurance detective might be right. I half expected to see a framed photograph of Jack Lushmore. But there was none—nor of Stanley Kane.

Craig was silent, thinking. It was only for a few seconds. Once again he was the jolly playmate romping in the hall and back to the nursery. There we were making more noise than was necessary, and apparently did not hear Louise when she came back from downstairs. Her face now wore a slightly harassed expression.

"Mrs. Kane has come home—unexpectedly early!" she whispered. "She'll be sure to find you. Then I'll be in bad—with both of them. I'm going to call you my brother, Walter," she added, with a nervous laugh.

I nodded quickly. Already I could hear the click of high heels coming down the hall and stopping quietly for several moments before the open door of the nursery.

"Louise—I don't understand!" "Madame, my brother Walter. He is going to sail soon with his friend—and he wanted to see me before he went away for so long a time. He has a good job. The family are taking him abroad with them, as a courier. This is his friend, Mr. Carson, a commissioner."

Craig and I bowed. It was really homage to beauty. Doris Kane was one of the most beautiful women I have ever met. She had eyes that, while she stood quietly before us, showed childish curiosity, a teasing luster of the dilated pupils, a snap and fire possibly over our intrusion, and yet with the gentleness of the mother as she looked at her children, as well as at the assumed sisterly affection Louise was bestowing most generously on me.

It was Craig who smoothed things over deftly. "Mrs. Kane, we shouldn't have bothered Louise, but Walter sails Thursday and he cares a great deal for his sister. He hasn't seen her much for years. We heard the children and begged to see them. They are irresistible. We forgot, and were children, too. They are wonderful. I trust that we may be pardoned." It was Craig's way with the ladies. I who try as hard to attract, to please them, see all my efforts wasted, when a few words from Craig in his own inimitable manner make them forget my very existence.

"I'm sorry, Louise. I misunderstood. It will be all right for you to see your brother. You are entirely welcome. I shall be ready in about quarter of an hour, Louise."

Intermittently that evening and the next morning Kennedy seemed at work in his laboratory on some analysis, both chemical and with a super-microscope. It was not until the middle of the following afternoon that he received a telephone call from O'Connor and turned to me after a hasty conversation, his end of which I could not make out.

"I'm going out to the Kane mansion, Walter," he decided. "I'd like to have you come along. You know today Stanley Kane visits his children. I hear Doris Kane is going to a mah-jong party this afternoon. That will leave me free to do a little more looking about in her rooms before she gets back."

I regarded Craig silently. Had he made any progress at all in this case? To me he seemed more interested in the reunion of the Kanes than in the robbery.

Stanley Kane himself must have been expecting us, for it was he who let us in the house. He was even more excited than when he had visited us first.

"Well, Craig, what did you find?" he asked, anxiously. "Louise has told me you were here yesterday."

"Two mighty fine children, Stan, and your beautiful wife—as well as a very devoted nurse and good-natured cook."

"I'm! We're alone, Kennedy. Find anything about the robbery?"

"I saw what you saw. Apparently, just as you said, the safe had not been tampered with. I opened it without any trouble, using the combination you gave me. You didn't see any sign of violence about it, did you?"

"No," admitted Kane. "I told you that."

He was about to continue the quizzing. It was nearly 5 o'clock. Up the walk came Louise and the children.

When Dot and Junior caught sight of us, nothing could restrain them. Dot catapulted herself at me with a violence equalled only by Junior's impetuous reception of Craig. Louise nodded, colored a little, and proceeded indoors.

Both the children refused to let us go. "Come up—come up and have supper with us!" Junior pleaded with Craig as we went in.

I was hard to resist. Louise was a little shy in the presence of Stanley Kane and held a neutral attitude on the idea of the invitation. She neither urged nor objected.

"All right, Kennedy, settle it. All right, Junior, I'll come up. I hope you have a good supper. I'm as hungry as two bears!"

With screams of delight the children ran ahead, while Louise stayed below to order supper for two nursery guests.

Stanley Kane followed us up and stood in the door watching.

I was amazed at Kane's face. It was most serious as if he felt that Kennedy should have been working openly on the case, instead of playing with the children. Possibly he might have been envying Craig's versatility, though.

Louise soon had the children dressed in their night clothes. It was an attractive sight to see the kiddies frisking about in their little white sleeping garments.

Meanwhile, the supper was brought up. When Stanley Kane saw that preparations had actually been made for us to eat with the children, his disgust was intense.

"Passing me the confided, quietly: 'What's the matter with Kennedy? He may be a detective, that loves kids. But as a detective that solves cases, he is getting nowhere. Tell him if he wants to talk over the case with me when he is finished playing with the children, I'll be out there on the porch. I'm going to have a smoke.'"

With this last fling of irony he disappeared, and I could hear him walking heavily on the sleeping porch adjoining.

It was a simple meal—soup, graham bread, milk, and fruit. But the hospitality of the children was very pretty. It was so evident that we were welcome.

"You had better join us," I coaxed Louise. "Sit down in my place and let me wait on you."

"No," I can wait. I don't feel hungry tonight, anyhow. No, Junior, you finish. Louise has no appetite." She looked at me nervously and whispered, "I hope Mrs. Kane is late, doesn't find you here tonight, too. She will be furious with me for allowing such a thing while her husband is here. Mr. Kane never stays as late as this, either and when they meet there are fireworks! A pretty shrug of her shoulders indicated her apprehension of the impending pyrotechnic display of tempers."

"Don't worry, Louise," assured Kennedy. "I'll smooth things over with Mrs. Kane, as I did yesterday."

Federated Club Activities Feature Calendar for Today

Holding the attention on today's calendar will be the activities of Georgia's federated clubwomen taking place at the Atlanta Woman's club. The fifth district institute, sponsored by Mrs. Kate Green Hess, president, and Mrs. John F. MacDougald, chairman, topping the list, the purpose of which is to give informative and useful facts to clubwomen, and to hold a round table discussion after each instructive talk is given on the program, which features a talk by Mrs. A. H. Brenner, of Augusta, state president, on "The Balanced Program, or Coordinating Community Activities." Other talks include: "The State Federation in Relation to the General Federation," Mrs. A. P. Brantley, general federation director; "Parliamentary Drill," Miss Rosa Woodberry, parliamentary state and fifth district; "Relation of the Districts to the State Federation," Mrs. Z. I. Fitzpatrick, past president Georgia federation; "Club Extension," Mrs. S. V. Sanford, first vice president and chairman of club extension Georgia federation; "Club Programs," Mrs. P. K. Rambo, second vice president and chairman of program Georgia federation; "Press and Publicity," Miss Julia M. Sparks, chairman press the Georgia federation.

The board of trustees of Tallulah Falls Industrial School, Inc., presided over by the president, Mrs. John K. Ottley, meets at 4 o'clock in the palm room of the Atlanta Woman's club on Peachtree street. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock, the meeting continuing until 10 o'clock. Completion of the Greater Tallulah program begun in 1923 and the introduction of the newly-elected officers of the Young Matrons' circle of Atlanta will feature the meeting, which commands the interest and attention of club women throughout the state. The outline of splendid achievements reflects credit and honor on the members of the board and the officers, who have given most generously of their time and ability to the worthy cause of "The Light in the Mountains."

Mr. and Mrs. Moore Honor Visitors At Buffet Supper

Mr. and Mrs. H. Clay Moore were hosts Tuesday evening at an informal buffet supper at their home on Peachtree road in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hunsickel, of Allentown, Pa., the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Kline, in the Biltmore apartments. A color motif of yellow, green and white prevailed throughout the spacious rooms of the lower floor, where the guests were received. The lace covered table in the dining room was ornamented in the center by a large silver epergne filled with callendulas and freesias. Silver candlesticks holding green tapers tied in the center with butterfly bows of yellow tulle graced the table at artistic intervals.

Mrs. Moore received her guests wearing an exquisite gown of wistaria-colored chiffon. Mrs. Hunsickel's costume was fashioned of shell-pink satin effectively combined with French blue chiffon and trimmed with rhinestone embroidery. Mrs. Kline wore a striking model of white point d'esprit and black Chantilly lace.

The guests included a group of close friends of the hosts who enjoyed a game of bridge after supper.

Another social courtesy tendered by Mrs. Hunsickel was the luncheon Tuesday at which Mrs. John E. Smith entertained at the Capital City club, covers being placed for eight friends of the hosts.

Those taking part in the orchestral numbers were: Violins, Charles Atkins, Hugh Fitzgerald, Raymond Callaway, John Callaway; flute, Fred McNamara; clarinet, Benton Page; saxophone, Bill Reynolds; cornets, J. B. Peavy and Lamar Witchee; trombone, W. H. Higginbotham, Jr.; pianist and conductor, Miss Speer. Little Miss Dorothy Williams, a pupil of Miss Speer, gave two piano solos.

The Orpheus Concert orchestra was organized by Miss Eleanor Speer, assistant organist of Trinity M. E. church. The orchestra has grown steadily since its organization and has now 16 members. It is composed entirely of boys of high school age.

Mrs. Little Recalls Early Days As 79th Birthday Approaches

BY MISS EMMA HARRISON,
East Point Correspondent.

East Point, Ga., February 19.—Down in East Point there is a sweet and gentle old lady—Mrs. E. G. Little—who is young in everything except years, and Father Time has been her true friend, dealing graciously with her through almost eight decades.

Mrs. Little was formerly Miss Susie Lawshe, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Lawshe, who were pioneer citizens of Atlanta. She was born May 5, 1850, and will, in a few weeks, celebrate her 79th birthday.

In conversation with her recently she told how eagerly she watched the building of the tracks for the old horse cars, and laughingly told of her first ride on them—she was going to a nearby store to do some shopping and wanted the novelty of riding on the new fangled conveyance, and the thrill it gave her she has never forgotten.

Her first school years were spent in an upstairs room on the corner of Whitehall and Hunter streets, on the site where Grand's Ten-Cent store now stands. At recess she would run across the street to her father's place of business and get a nickel and candy, and she still has that sweet tooth for candy. She attended Sunday school at Wesley chapel when it occupied the site where the Forsyth theater now stands. Her father, Lewis Lawshe, was the first Sunday school superintendent of Wesley chapel, which time has converted into the First Methodist church of Atlanta.

Mrs. Little heard the first guns fired for the Battle of Atlanta, when General Sherman started his destructive march through Georgia. Her father was a member of the home guards, carried her mother and the little ones to Indian Springs the day before the battle began in earnest, so they would be out of danger of the gun and shell fire, and they stayed there several months until the danger was passed, returning to war-torn Atlanta with heavy hearts to help rebuild the city. Here she lived until she was married to Edgar G. Little, on St. Patrick's day, March 17, 1875. Mr. Little bought a farm near East Point and this plucky little woman supervised the farm and reared her children, while her husband established a business in East Point and helped to build the town. Later they moved to East Point and seven years ago on the 48th anniversary of her marriage, she was left a widow, living since with her children at the family home, 114 Ware avenue.

She would not be drawn into discussion of the beaux of the primitive days, she only chuckled with a merry twinkle in her eyes, and said "they were fine fellows."

Despite the 79 milestones she has passed, she keeps in close touch with the times, and adapts herself to the changes. She reads the fashion close-fitting hat, and while her dress is not knee-length, it is short enough to show a small shapely foot and dainty ankle. She reads and keeps well posted on current news. She is bright and cheerful, heartily enjoying a joke, and is never happier than when the home is filled with music and young people. She is a radio fan, listening in on every program, and finds much interest in politics.

Mrs. Kellett Weds Benson L. R. Skelton.

The marriage of Mrs. Wessie Louise Kellett and Benson Lee Roy Skelton was solemnized Saturday evening, February 16, at 6 o'clock at the West End Baptist church, Atlanta, Dr. M. A. Cooper, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony and was witnessed by friends and relatives. After the ceremony they left immediately for a two weeks' motor trip in Florida.

The bride is the attractive daughter of C. H. Kellett, prominent citizen of Greenville, S. C. She is a graduate nurse of Grady hospital, and during the past eight months has enjoyed the distinction of being the youngest department head at that institution.

Mr. Skelton won prominence at both Tech high school and Georgia Tech as an athlete. His ability has already won for him a position of prominence in his business connection with the American Bakeries company.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

WHERE DANNY'S FAMILY HAD GONE.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Uneasy youth the world must see, And on the move incessant be. —Old Mother Nature.

The eight children of Danny Meadow Mouse left home at a very early age. By the time they were a month old they were out in the great world. Doesn't that seem like a very early age? But in the life of a Meadow Mouse it isn't so early. No.

He couldn't be satisfied, so he kept on moving on and on.

Now it is one of the happy provisions of Old Mother Nature that her little people shall quickly recover from fright. They may be terribly frightened, but in even a few minutes, if they are undisturbed, they may have wholly recovered from that fear. It was so with all the young mice when they were driven out into the great world. They were at first terribly frightened, but within a few minutes fear had given way to curiosity and in a few minutes more they had quite forgotten what had happened to them. So it is with most of the little people of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest, and a very good thing it is that it is so. Of course, in a family of eight children, some are smarter than others. Some are bolder than others. Some are careless and heedless. Some are cautious and timid. It was just so with this family of Meadow Mice. Before that day was over one of the most venturesome had climbed up to the surface of the snow, and because he had had no experience he didn't watch out for Ronghleg, the Hawk. Another waited until night before going up to the surface of the snow. And then in the moonlight he had a wonderful time scampering from weedtop to weedtop and finding seeds such as he had never tasted before. But he, too, was heedless, and when Hooty, the Owl, had passed on silent wings, there was no little Meadow Mouse scampering around on the surface of the snow and finding seeds.

A third, a very timid, small person, met in one of the little tunnels a strange young Meadow Mouse. They straightway fell in love, and made themselves a home. A fourth became a traveler. He couldn't be satisfied anywhere and so he kept moving on and on, digging for himself little tunnels in the snow, when there were none already built. And so in time he, too, found a mate far from where the old haystack had been and there established a new home. A fifth, Reddy Fox, knows more about than I can tell you. And a sixth made the acquaintance of Old Man Coyote. That became of the seventh and eighth I have not heard. As for Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse, they never did hear what became of any of their children. But this time they were at all, for they had new family cares to occupy their time.

SIX ADDITIONAL BILLS RETURNED AGAINST MERRITT

Six additional true bills, charging criminal assault, robbery and a statutory offense, were returned Tuesday against Alvin E. Merritt by the Fulton grand jury. A number of indictments were returned against Merritt last Friday by the grand jury in its investigation of a series of attacks and robberies on the north side.

The grand jury did not return any additional bills Tuesday against J. L. Hamilton, a friend of Merritt, who was indicted last Friday on one charge of criminal assault and one charge of robbery. Hamilton has filed a petition asking that he be allowed to make bond. This petition will be heard Thursday by Judge Virlyn B. Moore, with Len B. Guillebeau representing Hamilton as his attorney.

The paper was offered in city council by Councilman Robert Cobb, of the ninth ward, and sent to the committee for a report.

DON'T TRIFLE WITH CONSTIPATION

Rid Your System of Its Disease-causing Poisons With ALL-BRAN

Constipation gets its grip on a person almost unawares. It starts with such little things. Headaches, listlessness. Bad complexions. Unpleasant breath.

If allowed to continue, constipation often leads to serious results. It poisons the whole system. Steals the charm and beauty of women. Robs men of their vitality and ambition.

Don't trifle with constipation. Rid your system of it by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—a delicious cereal. It is guaranteed to bring relief — to prevent constipation. Just eat two tablespoons daily —chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN because it is 100% bran. It works as nature works. Serve it with milk or cream, fruits or honey added. Use it in cooking—there are delicious recipes on the package. Grocers sell ALL-BRAN. Restaurants, hotels, dining-cars serve it. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

This Butterick pattern with complete instructions for making is 40c. You may order by phone or mail. Address Home Dressmaking Bureau, Atlanta, Ga. For phone orders call IV 5700.

Even the little girls are wearing ensembles this spring! And why shouldn't they be just as smart as their not-so-much-older elders! The cunning ensemble sketched is effective in a number of materials—in wool, silk, or in silk crepe with the blouse and coat lining in a harmonizing crepe de chine, in tweed combined with a harmonizing silk, or in silk crepe with the blouse and coat lining in a colorful printed silk.

Size 10 of this pattern requires 2 1/2 yards of 39-inch material for the coat and bottom of the frock, 1 1/4 yards of 30-inch material for the upper part of the sleeveless frock and 1 7/8 yards of 39-inch material for the coat lining.

DeKalb Sheriff
Frees Prisoner
As Home Burns

Deatur, Ga., February 19.—(AP)—Sheriff J. A. Hall, stern minion of the DeKalb county law, became a humanitarian last night.

"Buck" Davis, a resident of this vicinity, was serving a 90-day sentence in the county jail for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. A fire alarm was sounded. The sheriff learned it was for Davis' home.

Recalling the prisoner had a wife and child, he loaded Davis into a county automobile and hurried to the scene of the fire. There they found the Davis home in ashes and Mrs. Davis and the child shivering nearby without clothing.

The sheriff surveyed the situation. "Buck," said he, "I guess you'd better stay here with your wife and kid. They need you a good deal more than I do. When you get on your feet and have them provided for, I'll expect you to come back to jail and serve the rest of your sentence."

Today Sheriff Hall circulated a petition for a subscription for the destitute family.

C. M. E. MINISTERS
PROMISE SUPPORT TO PAINE COLLEGE

Pledge to support Paine college at Augusta and discussion of the need of properly operated churches in the matter of finance and systematic efforts in running evangelical campaigns featured a meeting of the C. M. E. Ministers' alliance at Halsey temple, with Dr. J. D. Hudson presiding.

Dr. J. A. Martin, vice president of Paine college, declared "negroes must spend more money for their education in our church institutions. The day has passed when we can be in the words of Dr. Kelly Miller, 'buy what we want and beg for what we need.' Our church colleges must have our best blood, our money and sentiment in these days of distress. We have Paine college men here in the pulpits and they must do their duty, teaching the members that negroes must give money for their causes, and cease paying for trash."

In further emphasizing the need of Paine college, he said: "I am ashamed to see our people spend money for trashy sermons and certain kinds of pulpits 'wooden' and when it comes to pay or give funds to churches, they refuse to give one dime."

The meeting adjourned with the pledge to better support Paine college.

ROBINSON SENTENCED

Given 2 to 5 Years in Auto Theft.

A sentence of two to five years on the chain gang was meted out to Luther Robinson Tuesday by Judge John S. Wood, of the Blue Ridge circuit, who is presiding in Fulton superior court for Judge E. D. Thomas. Robinson was charged with larceny of an automobile from W. C. Cain, of Canton, Ga., on April 2, 1918, of which he was found guilty by a jury in Pannin county for hitting a woman with the stolen automobile. Robinson pleaded guilty to the larceny charge.

ABACUS IS STOLEN

Thereby Wrecks Accounting System of Chinese Laundry.

An abacus, or Chinese adding machine, and a set of books printed in Hebrew were among the things reported Tuesday to police. Lum Pong, Chinese laundryman at 85 1/2 street, told officers his accounting system was wrecked with the loss of his abacus, which resembles a typewriter with a set of keys. The abacus, a hand-operated machine, was used by the laundryman to add up his bills. He said the abacus was stolen from his home at 85 1/2 street, where he lives, by a burglar who entered the residence of A. I. Edelstein, 300 Capital avenue.

MEETINGS POPULAR

Special Services at Tabernacle Drawing Big Crowds.

Dr. Nathan R. Melhorn, the speaker during the first week of the union services at the Baptist tabernacle, at 12:15 today will speak on "Who Pays?"

Interest in this series of meetings is increasing day by day and each day sees a larger crowd in attendance to hear Dr. Melhorn, who is editor of "The Lutheran," official organ of the United Lutheran church in America.

For his Tuesday meeting he spoke on "I came to seek and save the lost."

Each night at 7:45 Dr. Melhorn preaches at the Church of the Redeemer, at where he has been speaking since he came to Atlanta. This affords those unable to attend the union meetings at the Baptist tabernacle at the luncheon hour opportunity of hearing him.

Greek Colony Here Honors Adamantios Polyzois.

Adamantios Th. Polyzois, editor of Atlanta's oldest Greek newspaper in the United States, who recently was a speaker at the citizenship conference at Emory university, was entertained at a dinner given by the Greek colony during his visit.

Among those present at the dinner were James Cotsakis, Chris Carlos, George Polos, Pro. Vassilis, Charlie Vassili, John Campbell, Charlie Polos, Perry Zervos, Jim Vlas and Eli Chotas.

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 39

Tarzan went in search of Jane's father. Finally he found the old man, and the professor, brought them safely to the cabin, and again vanished into the jungle. Emerald "came to" at the lioness's last shriek. The reunited party of castaways related their experiences and talked long of the mysterious ape-man.

When it grew light, they ate of their scanty store of food. They decided to bury the skeletons. The professor discovered they were those of white people. On the man's finger he found a massive ring. Clayton gave a cry of astonishment. "I bore the crest of the house of Greytoke."

And then Jane in a book saw the single name: Greytoke. Thus they identified the skeletons and with deep reverence buried them. The professor had noted that the infant's bones were not a human's. He murmured "Most remarkable," but said nothing. From the trees Tarzan of the Apes watched the solemn ceremony.

Most of all he watched the sweet face and graceful figure of Jane. He knew that she was created to be protected and that he was created to protect her. Emerald chanced to glance toward the harbor. She cried out, pointing to the "Arrow" slowly sailing seaward.

Now they knew they were deserted—marooned by merciless sailors on this jungle shore. Tarzan saw their consternation; also the departure of the ship. He swung through the trees to see closely this strange floating house. Presently his keen eye saw the faintest suspicion of smoke on the horizon.

Chicago Air Mail Route Head
Sees City As Great Flying Hub

Lieutenant-Colonel W. G. Schaffner, Jr., assistant to the vice president of United Aviation, Inc., and general manager of the Interstate Air Lines, Inc., operators of the Atlanta-Chicago air mail route, was in Atlanta Tuesday on an inspection trip of the entire line of the company, arriving at Candler field in a Stearman mail plane.

Colonel Schaffner was enthusiastic over his company's prospects in this part of the country, stating that air mail poundage had shown splendid increases all along the line.

"I look for a decided increase in air mail poundage about July 1, when night flying between Atlanta and Chicago will be inaugurated. This time having been promoted to captain, and commanded three American and three French squadrons during the Argonne offensive.

He then named operations of the first army air service, then assistant chief of staff of the first army air service, with the rank of major, and subsequently, chief of staff, all under General Mitchell, he was transferred to air service headquarters, G. H. Q.

Returning to the United States in August, 1919, Major Schaffner was placed in command of the Mexican border patrol in 1919-1920, and then was sent to Langley Field, Virginia, where, as lieutenant-colonel, he was placed in charge of observers' field officers school.

Designing the fall of 1920 from the army air service, Colonel Schaffner since has devoted himself to the furtherance of commercial aviation in this country.

The winter, with its attendant poor flying conditions, is about over, and a very definite improvement in schedule maintenance can be looked for as soon as spring usually sets in. The current situation at every point along the line north of Atlanta is being speedily ironed out. The smaller fields are being enlarged and improved and the larger airports, similarly, are undergoing constant development. With the landing field question soon to be disposed of passenger service between Atlanta and Chicago should be resumed in the neighborhood of June 1.

Colonel Schaffner is a veteran in aviation, having taken up flying in 1915. This early training stood him in good stead when he joined the United States entered the world war, the youthful aviator enlisting in the United States army air service as a sergeant.

His promotion was rapid, however, and he went overseas shortly afterward as a first lieutenant with the first air squadron. He had the first fully equipped American observation plane across the German lines.

He commanded the 90th air squadron in the St. Mihiel drive, by that time he was a major.

Following the St. Mihiel drive, he was transferred to the 1st Air Corps, where he commanded the 1st Air Corps observation group.

He was then transferred to the 1st Air Corps observation group, where he commanded the 1st Air Corps observation group.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

AFTER THE PHILIPPINE INSURRECTION HAD BEEN SUPPRESSED IN LUZON, THE REVOLT OF THE NATIVES AGAINST THE AUTHORITY OF THE UNITED STATES CONTINUED TO SMOLDER IN THE OTHER ISLANDS OF THE GROUP, ESPECIALLY IN SAMAR AND LEYTE, WHERE THE INSURGENTS WERE LED BY GENERAL LUKBAN.

The Massacre at Balangiga (Part One).

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

ON THE ARRIVAL OF OUR SOLDIERS, THE GUERRILLAS RETREATED INTO THE ALMOST IMPENETRABLE JUNGLES. THE AMERICANS AT BALANGIGA AT ONCE BEGAN SANITARY REFORMS, AND FORCED THE MALE POPULATION TO TAKE PART IN CLEANING UP THE TOWN.

THE NATIVES SEEMED FRIENDLY ENOUGH, BUT UNKNOWN TO THE AMERICANS, THERE WAS TREACHERY AFOOT. THE "PRESIDENT" (MAYOR) AND CHIEF OF POLICE OF BALANGIGA SECRETLY PLOTTED WITH LUKBAN'S GUERRILLAS TO DESTROY THE "AMERICANOS".

HENRY T. CRAFT DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Well-Known Atlantan Had Been Connected With Keely
Company 40 Years.

Henry T. Craft, 70 years old, well-known Atlantan, died Tuesday night at the residence, 372 Spring street, after a short illness.

Mr. Craft began his residence in Atlanta early in his youth and until recently had been connected with the Keely company, serving that firm for more than 40 years.

He leaves his widow, three sons, Clarence C. Craft, of Cleveland, Ohio; and Henry and Charles Craft, of Atlanta; three daughters, Mrs. Joe Leppert and Mrs. A. M. Sisk, of Atlanta, and Mrs. W. M. Koch, of Cleveland, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Wilson. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Sam R. Greenberg and company, funeral directors.

S. S. CARTER, OF LULA, FUNERAL RITES HELD

Lula, Ga., February 19.—(Special.) Funeral services were held at the Baptist church here today at 11 o'clock for S. S. ("Dunk") Carter, who died at a hospital in Atlanta Friday, February 15.

Thousands of people, both rich and poor, passed the casket with bowed heads and tear-rimmed eyes to take a last look at the beloved millionaire.

Burial services were at Belton cemetery. He was 78 years old, and is survived by two nephews, Scruggs Rogers, of Duluth, and W. F. Peck, of Murfreesboro, and six nieces, Mrs. L. K. Carter, of Belton; Mrs. C. A. Jones,

CALLAWAY FUNERAL AT RESIDENCE TODAY

Body of Prominent Woman
Will Be Taken to Former Home.

Funeral services for Mrs. Frank E. Callaway, prominent Atlanta woman, who died Monday night at a local hospital following a long illness, will be conducted at 11 o'clock this morning at the residence, 194 Fourteenth street, N. E. The Rev. N. R. High Moor will officiate and burial will take place in LaGrange.

Mrs. Callaway was the widow of one of Atlanta's best known lawyers, Frank Erwin Callaway, member of a prominent family of LaGrange. She formerly was married to Dr. J. H. Callaway, a graduate of the University of Georgia, where he was noted as an athlete. He was secretary to Governor Atkinson during the latter's term of office. Later, he became one of the most prominent lawyers of the city.

GEORGIANS TO PROTEST RAISE IN RAIL RATES

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
Washington, February 19.—(AP)—Members of the Georgia congressional delegation will deliver another protest before the interstate commerce commission Wednesday against the proposed increase on freight rates on coal shipments from Alabama and Tennessee mines to points in the state.

Plans call for the delegation to appear before the commission in a body when the Georgia rate is considered tomorrow morning.

Decision to file the joint protest was reached at a caucus of the delegation Saturday. At the same time the delegation went on record in favor of a specified rate of house committee assignments for Georgia congressmen at the next session.

Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Americus, was recommended to continue his place on the ways and means committee; Representative Charles G. Edwards, of Savannah, urged for place on judiciary if vacancy occurs, otherwise to remain on rivers and harbors; Representative Thomas M. Bell, of Gainesville, to continue on postoffice and post roads; Representative W. W. Larsen, of Dublin, for agricultural committee; Representative Leslie J. Braud, of Athens, to remain on banking and currency; Representative Carl Vinson, of Milledgeville, to remain on irrigation and reclamation; Representative B. J. H. Steele, of Decatur, for labor, claims and civil service; and Representative M. C. Tarver, of Dalton, for committee on education and labor.

The list of recommendations will be presented to the house committee on committees when the new organization is considered for the next session.

Information received here from Washington is that Sergeant Joe B. Sharn, company B, 80th infantry, Fort Screven, Ga., has been selected as one of ten crack army marksmen to compete at Quantico, Va., about April 1, for position on the team to represent the United States in international matches in Sweden. Captain Elmer G. Lindroth and Captain James E. Lyons, 24th United States Infantry, Fort Benning, will also compete for the five marksmen to be chosen.

DISTANT RELATIVE OF EX-PRES. HAYES DIES AT MADRAS

Madras, Ga., February 19.—W. H. Harrison Hayes, a Confederate veteran who had almost reached his 88th year, died near here Sunday afternoon. He was distant relative of Rutherford B. Hayes, the nineteenth president of the United States.

He served throughout the war between the states in the 41st Georgia regiment, company K.

He had been a member of Liberty Christian church for many years and his quiet life of sobriety had been a religious influence far beyond his own family.

Besides his widow he is survived by the following five daughters and five sons: Mrs. Frank Cook, Mrs. Thomas Hayes, Mrs. Charles Sewell, Miss Etta Hayes, all of Madras; Mrs. Glenn Carter, of East Point; O. B. Hayes, postmaster at this place; Eric Hayes, of Newman; Curtis Hayes, who is at present engaged in Nebraska evangelistic work as a singer for the Christian church; Caudley Hayes and Yeager Hayes, of Atlanta.

A brother, Pinckney Hayes, of Decatur, Texas, also survives him.

Funeral arrangements await the arrival of the son from Nebraska.

Martyle Morris Dies.
Macon, Ga., February 19.—(AP)—Miss Martyle Morris, 23, whose engagement to Dr. E. J. Barkley, of Nashville, Tenn., was to have been announced last Sunday, died in a local hospital early this morning. The wedding was postponed on account of her illness, but was to have been held within two weeks, the family announced. Miss Morris had been ill a week with pneumonia.

Mrs. Florence Bryan, Atlanta, is a sister.

NEW TEAPOT ANGLE BEFORE SUPREME COURT

Arguments of Government and Sinclair Finished Before Tribunal.

Washington, February 19.—(AP)—Another phase of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve controversy will be heard by the supreme court for its consideration.

Counsel for the government and Harry F. Sinclair today concluded, before the highest tribunal, arguments on whether the oil man was within his rights in refusing to answer questions put to him by a senate committee in 1924 relating to the lease of the Wyoming reserve issued him by Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, which since has been declared invalid.

Alfred Pomeroy and Owen J. Roberts, for the government, and George P. Hoover, Sinclair counsel, dwelt at length on the pertinency of the questions.

Members of the court questioned the counsel closely on this point and Justice McReynolds indicated that the four questions set out in the indictment are understood. He is understood in the lease making might be of aid in forming new laws.

Has No Power.
"As far as this inquiry is concerned," Justice McReynolds said, "the senate has no power except to make laws and therefore no power to elicit information not relative to the subject."

Industrial Session
At Macon Decides
On Health Program

Macon, Ga., February 19.—(AP)—Following a general discussion of common interests in industrial development, representatives of cities in middle and south Georgia decided today to assemble data now available for the purpose of continuing the inquiry into the causes and effects of the disease known as typhoid fever, and to work out plans for cooperating with the state board of health.

The following committee was appointed to assemble data and present it at a subsequent meeting: L. S. Moody, Augusta; Robert Cargile, Columbus; John Davis, Albany; J. H. Ashley, Valdosta, and Lincoln McConnell, Jr., Macon.

Valdosta, Ga., February 19.—(Special.) Valdosta milk dealers daily contend with the mysterious disappearance of milk bottles in large quantities. The dealers declare that the replacement of milk bottles continues on the large source of expense they have outside the actual upkeep of the dairy herds.

Discovery was made yesterday of one negro who was selling milk bottles by the hundred, turning them in at a reduced price. The negro stated to officers investigating the case that he lived near the city dump grounds and that the milk bottles and many "pop" bottles were salvaged every day from the refuse dumped from the city trucks. Further investigations are being made at the request of the dairy men, to locate bottles in large numbers. They do not believe that the customers throw the bottles into the trash cans, as alleged by the negro under investigation.
